RAIN ADDS TO FLOOD DANGER IN WIDE AREA

New Downpour in the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys Adds to Rivers' Menace of the Lower Valley.

WATER SURE TO PASS HIGH MARK OF 1897

Chief Forecaster at Washington Declares the Condition Will Continue Serious for a Month or So.

Rain that fell last night and this morning in every section drained by the lower Mississippi and the Ohio dashed all hopes that the flood on the two rivers would subside. The increased run of water will prevent any fall of the waters, and has already caused a raise in several places.

It is raining today practically over the entire Mississippi and Ohio valleys. Should it not stop soon the flood, in addition to passing the 1897 mark, which it already promises to do, may swell sufficiently to overcome the newly strengthened levees of the lower river and repeat the property devastation of that year. The amount of rain that reaches the two rivers in the next two days will determine the outcome.

At the best, the flood in the lower valley will last for a month. That is the prediction of Chief Forecaster Hanna in Washington.

As a result of the rain, the residents of the vast district about and below Memphis that suffered so severely in 1897 have given up expectation that the river will not pass the high mark of that year. Confined in narrow boundaries by the stronger levees, the great river is certain to pass the 37.4 mark which it reached six years ago. The weather forecaster at Memphis today predicted a stage of 38 feet there

What will happen then in lower Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee and Louisiana no one can predict.

On the one hand in the problem are the strongest levees ever built; on the other, the greatest height of water they have ever had to withstand. A third factor in the problem is the levee cutter, who is willing to ruin a countryside to save his own farm. Fear of cutting of the embankments is already being expressed along the lower river and the levees are being patroled.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 10.—"I look for a 38-foot rise by the end of the week, when the crest moving down the Mississippi reaches Memphis," stated Forecaster Emery to the Post-Dispatch at 9:30 this morning. Last night a heavy rain of 1:84 inches fell around Memphis, and this will swell the local streams.

When the Mississippi is at low water mark the greatest depth of channel is from 85 to 90 feet. With the rise it now ranges in depth from 120 to 125 feet. We are just short of the 35-foot mark which I had expected would be passed last night, but there is a volume of water coming down which will raise it above the 1897 high water mark, 37.3 feet.

After a conference with the heads of the levee boards, which are now under his jurisdiction in the First and Second levee districts, Capt. E. W. Van C. Lucas discussed flood possibilities.

He said: "We are looking for a 37-foot stage—four feet above danger line. The river will be patrolled, beginning tonight, from Cairo to White river, 410 miles.

"The steamer Abby will guard the levees from Pecan Point to Cat Island. The Graham will ply constantly from Pecan Point to Point Pleasant. Another boat will be dispatched to watch the southern districts. All will be equipped with paraphernalia to stop breaks.

"Every foot of the levees will be patrolled by land forces. We have other boats to be called into service when the call comes. Sacks and other material are held in readiness for instant distribution.

"The engineering corps realizes that the situation is serious.

"There is a big flood coming and people in the lowlands had better move. Those living behind levees are safe thus far, but they had best take no chances.

"In no place is the water dangerously near the tops of the levees, but what worries the engineers, most is the question of strength. In my district the only weak place is at Caruthersville, Mo.

"At Caruthersville we are building a loop to reinforce the old levee, a mile or so below the town. It is to check the river, if the older embankment gives way. We think Caruthersville, the town, is safe.

"When it becomes a matter of dire necessity we have the dredge fleet in reserve. In case of common need it will be pressed into service.

"I expect the patrols to be the most valuable factor in preventing a catastrophe."

Anxiety Has Become General.

The anxiety which has been growing steadily for five days as the flood reports from the North have poured in, become acute when Forecaster Emery issued the warning bulletin for the Mississippi Valley from Cairo to the Gulf sent out from Washington, D. C.

Firms and private persons sought at the packet and steamer offices to commission boats to save property which they had regarded safe.

With such a torrent of water to account for and continued rains predicted, the constant cry is: "Where will it end?"

The man who, five days ago, derided the possibilities of the present flood attaining 1897 proportions, was listened to respectfully.

Should he have the temerity to repeat the assertion now he is scoffed at.

Since the engineers of the government and the officials of the levee boards, who make only the most conservative statements, are alarmed at the volume of water in sight, others can not but believe that, perhaps, the greatest flood scenes in the great river's history are to be witnessed.

The steamer Sun came down from Fulton, Tenn., today. She brought 60 refugees with their livestock and effects.

She also carried several thousand sacks

WILL RAIN UNTIL FURTHER ORDERS

Weather Bureau Sees No Prospect That Dampness Will Diminish.

Tuesday morning weather reports were anything but cheering for anxious eyes on the river. Rain had been falling over nearly the entire country, the exceptions being the middle and southern Pacific states.

DAMP AND CHILLY TO DAY

The Mississippi valley was deluged with rain, especially in the southern part. The rains in Arkansas were from 1 to 2½ inches. North of St. Louis, in the Mis- were lighter.
souri valley, the rains

No cold weather is expected.

The Mississippi is expected to continue to rise today, reaching probably 26 feet by Wednesday morning. The Missouri and Ohio rivers will rise all day, but the only danger point for floods north of the Ohio is along the Illinois river, which is beyond the danger line for its full length.

Should heavy rains develop in the north river dwellers would suffer.

St. Louis was especially dismal, the smoke blanket of wet days contributing to the unusual darkness.

DEDICATION TO LAST FOR THREE DAYS

Gen. Corbin Plans With Fair Officials for National, International and State Celebrations.

At a conference of Gen. H. C. Corbin, U. S. A., and World's Fair officials Tuesday the details for the dedication ceremonies for the Exposition grounds and buildings were settled.

National day, when President Roosevelt will be the guest of honor, will be April 30. The monster military parade will be given on that day, the dedicatory exercises held and a reception tendered the President.

The military pageant will form on Grand avenue and other adjacent streets and the parade route will be west from Grand avenue on Lindell, through Forest Park into the Exposition grounds, where the Presiednt will review it from a stand to be erected between the Liberal Arts and Press buildings. The Forest Park stands will be reserved for school children.

May 1 will be International day, when the foreign representatives will be the guests of honor, and a floral parade and a reception to the guests will be the events of the day.

State Corner Stone Laying.

May 2 will be State Day, and the corner stones of many of the state buildings will be laid on that day with appropriate ceremonies. A monster civic parade is being planned for that occasion.

Many of the details for the parade on National Day have not yet been arranged. It is known that 4000 regulars will represent the army, aside from the many state troops. One hundred and fifty carriages and 200 saddle horses will be demanded for those participating in the parade.

The United States monitor Arkansas, which is to be in the Mississippi river on the occasion to represent the navy, will arrive at New Orleans April 1 and spend the time between that time and the day of the pageant visiting the many cities along the river between New Orleans and St. Louis.

Major-General Corbin will open his headquarters in St. Louis April 18 and take personal charge of the features of the great parade for which he has been designated as commanding officer.

WOMEN PLAN FOR THE FAIR

Two committees of the Board of Lady Managers of the World's Fair were in session at the Southern Hotel Tuesday.

The committee upon woman's work, of which Mrs. J. B. Montgomery of Portland, Ore., is chairman, has the following members: Mrs. Daniel Manning of New York, Mrs. John M. Holcomb of Hartford, Conn., Mrs. E. L. Buchwalter of Springfield, O., Miss Anna L. Dawes of Pittsfield, Mass., Miss Helen Gould of New York, Mrs. Richard Knott of Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. Holcomb and Mrs. Manning were the only members of the committee present at the morning meeting of the committee.

The ladies expected to visit the World's Fair grounds, but were unable to do so because of the weather. Their duty in the city is to meet with the Exposition board.

A committee composed of Miss Lavinia Egan of Shreveport, Io., chairman; Mrs. Finis P. Ernest of Denver, Mrs. W. E. Andrews of New Hasting, Neb.; Mrs. Helen Boies-Hunsicker of Pennsylvania will confer with the National Commission upon the definite work and future policy of the Board of Lady Managers. Instructions for the Board of Lady Managers will be received by this committee and resolutions presented to the National Commission for indorsement.

BARTENDERS FORM TEMPERANCE UNION

Jersey City Men Are Out to Reform Their Brethren.

JERSEY CITY, March 10.—The bartenders of this city are discussing a proposition to form a temperance society. There will be a meeting tonight, when it is understood the subject will receive consideration. One of the leaders in the movement is quoted as saying:

"I think the idea a good one. Why should not bartenders be total abstainers? The interests of their employers demand that they shall at all times be steady, sober and industrious. Why should a bartender be obliged to drink every time he is invited to do so by a customer? It is a pernicious custom. I believe two-thirds of the bartenders are ready to become total abstainers."

SENATE AGAINST SPECIAL JURIES

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 10.—The Senate today, by a vote of 21 to 6, went on record to repeal the special jury law, which applies to the entire state.

Under the statute, those serving as jurors must be men above the average intelligence.

All of the St. Louis senators approved the measure.

If this bill passes the House all juries hereafter will be drawn from the same panel.

HUNT FOR GILL AND ARNOLD

Sheriff Dickman and a Deputy Rout a West End Family Out of Bed.

Early Tuesday morning Sheriff Dickman and Deputy Sheriff Horan routed out a family near Lake and McPherson avenues and searched the residence to see if E. J. Arnold and L. A. Gill were in hiding there. A tip to the effect that Arnold and Gill were in the house reached Sheriff Dickman after midnight and he at once drove to his office, secured the papers and went to the West End to make the search.

Neither Arnold nor Gill were found, but it has not yet been established that the clew does not indicate that the men are in the city and the sheriff's force is on the alert.

The family was considerably surprised at being routed out on such a mission in the early morning hours, and as no trace of the men were found, the name has not been given out.

Sheriff Dickman said Tuesday afternoon: "When I went to the house to search it the family, who are very respectable business people of St. Louis, offered to let me make the search without a search warrant if I would promise not to give up their names for publication. I accepted the offer.

"I think the tip is a good one and will follow it further. I expect to make a further search in the West End Tuesday."

A Post-Dispatch reporter visited every house in that vicinity Tuesday and was told at each that neither the sheriff nor his deputy had been there.

Arnold Employes to File Answer.

Judge Adams of the United States district court Tuesday granted employes of E. J. Arnold & Co. perimssion to file an answer in their contest of the bankruptcy proceedings brought against the firm and set Saturday morning for a hearing in the matter.

KING LEOPOLD TELLS FRANCIS HE WILL COME TO THE WORLD'S FAIR

Belgian Monarch Receives the Exposition President Graciously and Democratically and Tells Him He Will Seek American Ideas at the Great Exhibition in St. Louis.

FRANCIS CABLES OF UNUSUAL HONOR KAISER PAID HIM

BERLIN, March 10.—Fifty minutes' audience with the Emperor, strictly private, not even the ambassador being present. All Berlin considers it an unusual honor; exceedingly gracious, remarkably strong, evidently sincere, patriotic and greatly interested in Exposition. He will send many personal treasures for exhibition; expresses admiration and friendship for the American people. Lunched by Commissioner-General Lewald, meeting 25 of the largest manufacturers. Will be received with Ambassador Tower by Chancellor Von Buelow at 5:30 and by Foreign Minister Richthofen. D. R. FRANCIS.

Mr. Francis was introducel by the United States ambassador.

King Leopold received him graciously, and greeted him in a very democratic manner.

He talked with the World's Fair president nearly an hour, and practically confirmed the report that, besides sending a big exhibit to the Exposition, he will also go to St. Louis and spend several days inspecting the wonderful displays.

King Leopold is a progressive monarch, and his purpose in visiting the Fair, he told Mr. Francis, would be to get ideas for the advancement of his people.

Mr. Francis is highly pleased with his reception by the Kaiser, who paid him the remarkable compliment of a private audience.

He refuses to say who the member of the royal house, assigned to attend the Fair, will be, but the general belief is that he is the crown prince, Frederick William.

From Brussels he will proceed to Paris tonight, thence to Cherbourg, when he will take steamer to America.

MISSOURI HOUSE PRAISES FRANCIS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 10.—The Missouri House of Representatives have adopted the following resolution, introduced by Mr. Tichacek of St. Louis:

"Whereas, The Honorable David R. Francis, president of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Co., is now completing a grand tour of Europe, which has made St. Louis and the state of Missouri famous among the crowned heads of foreign countries, by reason of his mission in making public to the rulers of the world the grandeur, greatness and glory of the coming World's Fair, and,

"Whereas, The Honorable Mr. Francis is adding laurels to this great commonwealth by a splendid examplification of the energy of her citizens in crossing oceans and continents to make known an American enterprise; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the House of Representatives tender to the said David R. Francis a vote of thanks for his work in behalf of the World's Fair, to which we are appropriating the sum of $1,000,000."

BANK ROBBERS WILL BE MET BY A THRONG

Union Station Officials Prepare to Handle the Crowds Who Will Try to See Rudolph and Lewis.

THEY WILL BE BROUGHT IN OVER THE BIG FOUR

To Be Placed in Charge of a Special Squad of Detectives and Policemen and Taken to Four Courts.

The interest manifested in St. Louis in the coming of Rudolph and Lewis, the Union bank robbers, has caused Union Station officials to prepare for a very large crowd at the station Tuesday evening.

The prisoners and Sheriff Bruch are expected to arrive over the Big Four at 6:45.

Tuesday the telephones at the station kept up a merry ringing from persons wanting to know when the party would get in.

Extra policemen will be on hand to take care of the crowd, and to see that no effort is made to mistreat the prisoners.

When the prisoners arrive they will be placed in charge of a special squad of St. Louis policemen and detectives, escorted to the Fourt Courts and placed in the St. Louis jail, to be held pending their trial in Franklin County.

The holding of the prisoners in St. Louis is a precautionary measure, taken at the request of Sheriff Bruch of Franklin County.

While Sheriff Bruch does not fear a lynching or release if the prisoners are taken to Franklin County, he does not think it wise to run any risk, and believes that the St. Louis jail is much more secure than the Franklin County jail.

Rudolph and Lewis were arrested in Hartford, Conn., Sunday, March 1, for the robbery of the Union Bank last December and the subsequent killing of Detective Charles J. Schumacher, who had tracked them to their homes and was prepared to arrest them.

They made a remarkable escape, and since their arrest have been given to considerable boasting over their deeds.

BANDITS SEEM IN JOLLY MOOD

By a Staff Correspondent on Board the Train.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 10.—"Bill" Rudolph and George Collins are speeding back towards Franklin County, Mo., ready to plead guilty to the charge of robbing the bank of Union, but not ready to plead guilty to murder.

"We had to get Schumacher or he'd have got us," one of them said.

"It was not our fault that he got killed."

Neither of the young bandits appears worried over the prospect confronting them. The sullenness they manifested when arrested in Hartford has worn off, and both appear cheerful and at times jovial.

They say they are not fraid of being lynched.

"Give us a gun apiece," Collins remarked as the train pulled out of Anderson, Ind., "and we won't be lynched.' '

Prisoners Are Not Unruly.

Neither Collins nor Rudolph has been unruly since leaving Hartford, or has the guards any reason to think that they contemplated an attempt at escape. On the run through Indiana they were shack'ed on what the Pinkertons call the "Siamese Twins" system. Collins' left foot is fastened to Rudolph's right foot by heavy chains and the hands of each are manacled. They are traveling in the stateroom of the Pullman coach "Dryden," and are not chained to the seats.

Two men are constantly on guard. The five escorts take turns at watching the bandits. They are Assistant Superintendent Daugherty of the Pinkertons, Cashier A. W. Hoffman of the Union Bank, W. M. Meyersieck of Union, Joseph Schmulle of Stanton, Mo., Detective Garrett Farrell of Hartford and Sheriff Thomas B. Bruch.

Arthur Campbell of Franklin County, who identified the prisoners, is also with the party.

New Englanders Cheered.

The detectives say that Collins was cheered as a hero when the party left Hartford, and that the crowd at the station to see the bandits off was so dense the police were forced to club the people ba[illegible]. The party changed cars at Springfield, Mass., and the bandits are coming through from there in the same coach.

Rudolph denies the printed statements that his sister reloaded his gun during the battle with Schumacher.

Hoffman is bringing back with him $8835.10 of the stolen bank funds, of which $3380 is in gold. The rest is in currency, except one 10-cent piece.

In talking of the battle with Meyersieck and Neiheiser, Rudolph said this morning that he got off his horse to pick up some shells out of the snow.

"The bullets came by me then," he said, "like a lot of bumble bees." Collins says Neiheiser poured some birdshot into his back in this fight, but that "they fell out."

RAIN ADDS TO FLOOD DANGER

On an island opposite St. Thomas, up Old river, 15 drowned-out persons, all whites, were rescued. They were in a perilous condition. They had gathered on the highest knolls with their cattle and waited anxiously for the Sun to take them off. It was 10 o'clock Sunday night when the boat reached them and the scene was one that once beheld could never be forgotten.

Saving Lives of Refugees.

The steamer's big searchlight played up and down the water as she picked her course through bayous and lagoons to the hillocks where the refugees stood.

The swift current lapped the ground at their feet. There was not enough room for the cattle on land, and they stood in water to their flanks. Some swam about as they pawed for ground with their feet.

With much labor and manipulation of the wheel the Sun pushed her way to the knolls.

The channel grew so shallow that she could go no further. The gangplank was run out and fell 20 feet short of land.

Capt. Phillips gave a sharp command, and the mate, with 30 negro roustabouts, sprang into the water.

It was a great lark for the roustabouts. They shouted like Comanche Indians as they paddled about in the waves and drove the cattle up the plank incline. They sang their rollicking plantation songs and splashed each other in their glee.

When all were aboard the paddles churned and the lately inhabited mound was left behind, a prey to the maw of the rapacious river.

At Dixie, Tenn., the Sun picked up 10 additional white flood sufferers. Mrs. Johnson, one of the victims, and her two daughters were rescued. They resided in a two-story dwelling and the current was so violent that it capsized another smaller dwelling near theirs.

A shanty-boat, owned by George Morris of Memphis, did yeoman service in saving property and lives. The people who were flooded out drove their stock behind the levee and ferried their cotton and seed to the shanty-boat in skiffs. When the Sun hove to everything was taken aboard and brought to Memphis. The shanty-boat was left to continue its work of preservation.

Picked Up Thirty Negroes.

The steamer also picked up 30 negroes, who waited until the waters drove them out, secure in the belief that by some means they would be saved in time.

Near Bradley's, on Old river, the Sun, on her errand of mercy, ran into a narrow place and an uprooted tree caught in her paddles, breaking a rudder shaft. Four precious hours were lost in making repairs.

The river, huge and dirty, sweeps along with irresistible flow.

The wharf is always crowded in flood season. Steamers are loaded to the water's edge with cargoes. Cotton bales by the thousands and cotton seed bags by the tens of thousands are brought in each trip by the steamers of the larger tonnages.

These have been sent up or down river from plantations to be secure from the river's wrath. The planter may have intended to hold his crop for a better market, but the flood is an argument more potent than an increased price of the staple. So he hurries it to Memphis.

While a slight fall of the Ohio river was recorded at Louisville this morning, it is only a temporary subsidence, and even higher water will be recorded there by tomorrow, as there has been a heavy rise at Pittsburg, which will be felt in the lower reaches of the Ohio. This last rise, the third at Pittsburg, is expected to surpass all others, as the Ohio is already above the danger lines everywhere.

The volume of water pressing into the narrowed waterway afforded by the now well-banked lower Mississippi is increasing every minute, and the government engineers and the forecaster at Memphis are openly giving warning that a serious flood is imminent.

Dr. Shoop's

Rheumatic Cure

Costs Nothing If It Fails.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer.

I am a specialist in Rheumatism, and have treated more cases than any other physician, I think. For 16 years I made 2000 experiments with different drugs, testing all known remedies while searching the world for something better. Nine years ago I found a costly chemical in Germany which, with my previous discoveries, gives me a certain cure.

I don't mean that it can turn bony joints into flesh again; but it can cure the disease at any stage, completely and forever. I have done it fully 100,000 times.

I know this so well that I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal for my book on Rheumatism, and I will mail you an order on your druggist for six bottles Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure. Take it for a month at my risk. If it succeeds, the cost is only $5.50. If it fails, I will pay the druggist myself—and your mere word shall decide it.

I mean that exactly. If you say the results are not what I claim, I don't expect a penny from you.

I have no samples. Any mere sample that can affect chronic Rheumatism must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs, and it is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. It has cured the oldest cases that I ever met. And in all my experience—in all my 2000 tests—I never found another remedy that would cure one chronic case in ten.

Write me and I will send you the order. Try my remedy for a month, as it can't harm you, anyway. If it fails, it is free.

Address Dr. Shoop, Box 688, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

THE SITUATION WILL BE SERIOUS FOR SEVERAL WEEKS, SAYS CHIEF FORECASTER

"The indications are that the water will go higher than in the disastrous flood of 1897. All depends on the levees, which are stronger now. The situation will be serious for several weeks."

—Chief Forecaster Hanna, Washington.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—"It all depends on the levees now," said Forecaster Hanna today after he had read the latest reports from the flood-threatened districts. "If the levees hold it will be all right, but if they give way anywhere there will be trouble, and lots of it.

"The indications are that the water will go higher than it did in the disastrous flood of 1897. But the levees are in much better condition to hold the water now than they were then. The situation will be serious for several weeks. The maximum stage will not be reached at New Orleans for a month.

'Between Cairo and Helena the Missisippi will rise at an increased rate, and it will pass the 35-foot stage at Memphis within 24 hours. The stage there is 34.6. Th edanger line is 33 feet. A stage of 37 feet will be reached by next Saturday, and it may go to 38 feet. The highest stage on record at Memphis is 37.3 feet, and it is quite likely that will be passed. The river will continue above the danger line for several weeks. The situation on the Ohio is not so bad. The greatest danger is at Evansville, where the river is 6.8 feet above the danger line. The river is stationary there and will probably rise only slightly in the next 36 hours.

"At Paducah we expect a stage of 45 or 46 feet. Today it is 43.4 feet. At Cincinnati and Louisville the river is falling and is now below the danger line. The Ohio is rising at Pittsburg and will reach the danger line of 22 feet today. It probably will not go above that, and, asthe river is falling below, it will carry off the swell without danger unless more rain comes."

OHIO RISING AND LOGS GOING OUT

EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 10.—The river is rising here slowly, and stands 42 feet and a fraction over. Reports show considerable loss between here and Cairo, Ill. Logs are coming out of the rivers above here. All side streams of the Ohio river in this section are raging currents. River men are greatly alarmed and fear the flood of 1884 will be repeated.

Homes Abandoned Near Evansville.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 10.—A stage of 45 or 46 feet is expected by the end of the week. The Wabash and White rivers rose rapidly today. Farmers are moving their household effects and thousands of people will be homeless if the river rises another week.

Affects Railroads Opposite Cairo.

CAIRO, Ill., March 10.—Rain is falling. It is believed there will be a more rapid rise. The water is now flooding the country across from this city in Missouri. At the stage of 47 feet on the Cairo gauge water began running over the Iron Mountain tracks at Bird's Point. The local freight got in on that road, but traffic will probably be suspended today. The water is also over the Cotton Belt track. People living on the river bank at Bird's Point were driven from their homes today.

Water Famine at New Albany.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., March 10.—The highest stage of water for more than two years has been reached at this point in the Ohio river, and as an indirect result New Albany is experiencing a water famine. The high water caused the pumping station of the New Albany Water Co. to cave in a few days ago. The station is used as a means of supplying the city with water. After the river water from the reservoir had been exhausted the Indiana Water Co. has been supplying the city with well water. This, however, is bad, and cannot be used for manufacturing purposes. Nearly all the mills have closed down, throwing out of employment about 1000 men and women. Hundreds of homes in the lowlands are under water, their occupants having moved during last night.

CINCINNATI EXPECTS ANOTHER RISE

CINCINNATI, March 10.—The river stage is 42.2, a fall of six-tenths. Weather Forecaster Bassler says the river will rise again, probably four or five feet.

PITTSBURG, March 10.—Pittsburg is somewhat alarmed by the flood, which will reach its highest at 23 feet today. The water is rising and there is rain.

REFUGEES RUSH INTO VICKSBURG

VICKSBURG, Miss., March 9.—The river guage registered 47 feet, a rise of two-tenths in 10 hours. Every boat arriving in port is crowded with refugees, and many other people are coming in on rafts and skiffs. Railway schedules are badly disarranged.

THREE CHILDREN DROWN IN FLOOD

LAKE CHARLES, La., March 10.—At Singer, 25 miles north of here, Inez Nichols, aged 6; Nathan Hyatt, aged 8, and Joyce Hyatt, aged 5, fell from a foot bridge, across a little stream which had been swollen by recent rains, and were drowned.

FLOODS PARALYZE NEBRASKA ROADS

LINCOLN, Neb., March 10.—Train service in Nebraska is paralyzed today on account of the floods. Bridges on all the main lines of the Burlington and the Union Pacific were washed out by the floods last night.

The Rock Island bridge at South Bend was torn loose, and it bore down upon the bridges at Louisville, destroying the middle spans, and the waters washed out the remainder. Today the lowlands of the Platte for miles from Schuyler to the mouth at Plattsmouth, are under water.

At various places the Union Pacific tracks are under water for a mile or two at a stretch.

THE UNION STORE'S OPENING.

All Roads Lead to Eighth and Franklin Avenue for Two Days.

All roads lead to the store of the Union House Furnishing Co. on Monday and Tuesday, their opening days. Each visitor was presented with a beautiful Bohemian glass vace, handpainted placque or bon-bon dish.

All day the store on the southeast corner of Eighth and Franklin avenue was thronged with persons admiring and selecting their spring housefurnishing goods from the fresh, new stock displayed on every floor.

The members of this new firm are all men prominent for years in this line of business. They are Messrs. J. H. Buettner, president; G. H. Guptil, vice-president; William Hicks, secretary, and Fred B. Meckfessel, treasurer.

The establishment has the advantage of every article being spick and span from the manufactories.

In the large, well ventilated, light, airy basement is the most complete line of ranges, coal, gas and gasoline. Kitchen cabinets that will delight the hearts of all good housekeepers, go-carts, baby buggies with their light-colored canopies, a large line of crockery and lamps. The street windows are furnished to simulate a parlor with handsome plush parlor suit and attractive hangings. On the opposite side is a complete dining room with rich antique oak table, sideboard, china closet and chairs.

The first floor is made attractive by the lavish decoration of graceful palms. Monday Weil's band played all the popular selections, adding greatly to the attractiveness of the surroundings. On every side on the first floor are handsome china closets, sideboards, extension tables, ladies' dressing tables and desks and bookcases.

The second floor is made attractive by a beautiful assortment of metal and brass beds, iron upholstered davenports that open, making a very comfortable bed, pretty pictures, mirrors, easels, rugs, carpets, drapery materials and a most complete line of window shades and oilcloths.

Any housekeeper interested in home comfort will be well rewarded by a trip to this [illegible]shment.

3 LEVEE BREAKS CAUSE BIG DAMAGE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ORLEANS, March 10.—three breaks have occurred on Bayou Lafourche, all three below Raceland, in a part of the state thickly populated by Manila and Italian truck farmers. These crevasses will inundate about 30 miles of cultivated lands, and the damage will be heavy. The breaks will run their course, they cannot be controlled. There is another expected break reported at Lafourche crossing. If the levee breaks there communication with the Southern Pacific will be interrupted, and some of the richest sugar plantations in the state inundated.

FEAR LEVEES MAY BE CUT

NATCHEZ, Miss., March 10.—Anxiety here is at a strong tension through fear that the levees may not be allowed to show their strength as it is possible a cut at some place will be made to save property on the other side of the river. This danger is as much of a source of apprehension as is the high stage of the river and the water which is yet to come.

The Mississippi at this point is 2.1 above the danger line and rising. Heavy rains are of daily occurrence. The ground is water-soaked and all of the water is going into the river.

BAD PROSPECT AT LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 10.—Although the Ohio river is falling here today, the danger of a flood of considerable proportions is not yet averted, and it is probable that a stage of 30 feet, or two feet above the danger line, will be reached before the rise runs its course.

The recession was only one-tenth of an inch an hour. It is probable that this fall will continue and by Wednesday night another rise will reach here which will bring the river up to the highest point of the season.

TEXAS FLOOD BOTHERS RAILWAYS

DALLAS, Tex., March 10.—One of the heaviest rains of the rainy season fell today. The streams are nearly at floodtide and still rising, and washouts in all directions are reported. Trains of all kinds have stopped trying to follow their schedules and traffic is temporarily paralyzed. The Trinity river was fast receding from its recent high rise when the rain began. It is expected to go higher than it was a week ago. Farmers had just begun to do their long-neglected planting. Today's storm will further delay agricultural work of all kinds.

BEER PARTY INTERRUPTED

Instead of Free Beer These Men Are Getting Free Meals at the Four Courts.

In attempting to obtain some liquid consolation for their misfortunes J. W. Hendricks, M. Hennessey and Gus Ditmer got themselves into the unsympathetic hands of the police.

They were standing at the corner of Fourteenth and Spruce streets condoling with each other in being out of funds and in hard luck, when they saw a Home Brewery wagon going by with a barrel of beer. They thought this would surely be a mitigation for grief and at once proceeded to annex it.

They managed to get the barrel out of the wagon without discovery and thought their luck had changed when a policeman interrupted them.

Both beer and men are at the Four Courts, where the men are held on a charge of petty larceny.

That Tired Feeling

Is a Common Spring Trouble.

It's a sign that the blood is deficient in vitality, just as pimples and other eruptions are signs that the blood is impure.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Remove it, give new life, new courage, strength and animation.

They cleanse the blood and clear the complexion.

Accept no substitute.

"I felt tired all the time and could not sleep. After taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a while I could sleep well and the tired feeling had gone. This great medicine has also cured me of scrofula." MRS. C. M. ROOT, Gilead, Conn.

TRUST DIVIDENDS INCREASED

Mississippi Valley Stock Will Pay 4 Per Cent Quarterly Hereafter.

The directors of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. Tuesday morning increased the quarterly dividends to be paid on the stock of that company from 3 to 4 per cent quarterly dividends.

This means that each share will pay the owner $4 each quarter, instead of $3 as for some time past.

JUSTICE EXPELLED FROM HABITATION

The fight to prevent Justice Greensfelder from having his courtroom in the St. Louis County Courthouse at Clayton came to a head Tuesday morning, and as a result Justice Greensfelder sat in the Liederkranz Hall, across the street from the courthouse.

County Treasurer Philip Deuser refused Tuesday morning to keep the parties in the case of P. Dewall, charged with assault, from entering his office, in one corner of which Justice Greensfelder has been holding court since he was ousted from his former office in the basement of the courthouse.

Justice Greensf was sitting at his desk when the partie to the suit appeared. There was a large crowd, including many witnesses.

"There are too many for this room," said Treasurer Deuser. "And you can't have them in here."

The justice protested, but finally led the crowd to Liederkrantz Hall.

Dewall, the defendant, is charged with stabbing George Edward and August Augermann in a fight at Manchester, St. Louis County, and the case was a change of venue from Justice Biermann of Manchester. After court was called in the Liederkranz Hall the case was postponed until Wednesday.

Picked Up a Woman's Ring.

Three men saw a woman drop a ring and none of the three stopped her. Isaac Fox, who has no home, picked up the ring, and Thomas Mahoney, 1523 Carr street, and William Witman, 5701 Theodosia avenue, the other two men, caused his arrest. The woman dropped the ring from her pocketbook at Fourth and Locust streets, Monday afternoon and Fox is held at the Four Courts.

"Hobson's Choice"

Tobias Hobson was the first man in England who let out hackney horses.

When anyone wished to hire a horse, he was obliged to take the one standing nearest the stable door—he had no selection. Hence the old proverb, so familiar now, was born:

"To elect there is but one—
'Tis Hobson's choice—take that or none."

Before the introduction of Uneeda Biscuit buying soda crackers in a paper bag, was like hiring Hobson's horses—there was no choice. In kind and quality there was but one—take that or else take none. Whether stale, soggy, dirty or old—'twas ever the same "Hobson's Choice."

Uneeda Biscuit in In-er-seal Packages have revolutionized this old method and set an example that has received the stamp of public approval, as the sale of over 200,000,000 5 cent packages attest.

20 PERISH BY BURNING OIL IN A WRECK

SEVERAL OF INJURED WILL NOT SURVIVE

Train Broke in Two and Last Section Crashed Into Forward Part and the Whole Took Fire.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

OLEAN, N. Y., March 10.—From 18 to 20 lives were lost, and fully twice that number were burned or bruised by an explosion of oil late last night, following a wreck on the Erie Railroad, north of this city.

Owing to the fact that some of the bodies were incinerated or blown into the creek by the explosion, the exact number of dead will probably not be known for several days. The number of injured is uncertain, as many of them were able to reach their homes. The known casualties are:

THE DEAD:

NORMAN BROWN, Olean.
JOHN TOBIN, Olean.
JOHN M'CREDY, Olean.
JOHN M'MAHON, Olean.
M. V. DRISCOLL, North Olean.
WALTER SWIFT, Olean.
JOHN STEMLINGER, Olean.
HARRY GODDEN, Boardmanville.
RICHARD CONNELL, North Olean.

Six unidentified bodies at Woodward's undertaking rooms.

BOY, blown into creek and drowned; body not recovered.

Two or more unidentified persons; bodies incinerated in burned wreckage.

The death list will be further increased when Olean creek is dragged, for many, whose clothing was saturated with the blazing oil, were seen to run to the railroad bridge, plunge into the water and drown.

The mayor is compiling an official list of the missing to compare it with the hospital list and that of the identified dead. In that way only can the full extent of the disaster be accurately obtained.

Some bodies will never be recovered as the intense heat of the fire reduced them to ashes.

Many Bodies Still Unidentified.

Of the bodies at the morgue, only six have been identified. The others are so badly burned as to be absolutely unrecognizable.

In the hospital and at their homes are 50 injured. Seven victims at the hospital are fatally burned. Three of them are expetced to die at any moment.

No one slept in Olean through the night. News of the disaster spread swiftly, and wherever a member of a family was missing, there was frenzied anxiety lest he be among the dead and dying. Hundreds rushed to the scene of the fire, and in their efforts to get near the injured, fought with the police who tried to save them from danger of a like fate.

The heat and the imminent danger of new explosions in the long line of tank cars had no terrors for those in search of loved ones.

The crowds surged from the burning wreck to the morgue and hospitals in the hope of catching a glimpse of the victims. At the dead house the scenes were pitiful as they were grewsome. Relatives, who pressed forward with anxiety and dread, were greeted by the sight of blackened corpses.

All the clothing was burned off, the trunks were charred and nothing remained of the beads but the skulls.

Six boys were close to the oil cars when they exploded. Though drenched from head to foot with the fiery liquid, they ran like living torches to a nearby ravine and rolled themselves in the mud to extinguish the flames. Their lives might have been saved if they had not inhaled the flames.

Heart-Rending Scenes at Hospital.

Another mob crowded about the doors of the Olean Hospital, eager to scan the blasted features of the injured as they were carried into the building upon stretchers. Heartrending scenes took place when a mother or father recognized a son. The police had difficulty in restraining the crowd from pushing its way into the operating room.

The hospital staff was utterly unable to cope with the work so suddenly thrust upon it. Every doctor in the city was pressed into service and three were called from Allegheny to lend their assistance.

It was midnight when the first of the wounded reached the hospital and many hours after daybreak the physicians were still on their feet.

Forty-five victims, many of whom will die, were in the hospital this morning.

At 9 o'clock last night an Erie freight, consisting principally of oil tank cars, broke in two north of the city. The separated sections rushed together with a crash and one of the oil tanks took fire.

The flames lighted the whole city and hundreds went out to watch the fire.

While several hundred were lined up and down the railroad tracks adjacent to the burning car, a series of explosions took place.

Oil tank after oil tank burst wit frightful noise, scattering sheets of ame in every direction over the fleeing crowd. Many were overwhelmed by the fiery deluge and fell dead in their tracks. Others who escaped the zone of fire had their clothing ignited by spatters of flame. Then a withering heat held off those ready to undertake the work of rescue and they had to watch the incineration of fellow human beings.

Iron From Cars Hurled Long Distance.

Portions of the iron domes of the car were hurled a distance of several hundred feet. The flames shot high in the air.

In this early accident, so far as can be learned, no one was injured.

For two hours the people stood massed together and as the heat became less intense the crowd began to edge a little closer to the wreckage until about 11 o'clock some venturesome boys approached to within a few hundred feet. Suddenly there was a terrible explosion. Great masses of flames shot into the air and literally rolled down the banked sides of the track into the gully where the spectators were standing. Men and boys fell before the wave of white light to rise no more. Huge pieces of iron were hurled through the air, mowing down the human beings by the score. Some managed to scramble to their feet and get away, but others lay still in death.

A veritable rain of fire came down upon the crowd. Men and boys with their clothing a mass of flames ran shrieking down the track, some of them falling to the ground unconscious, while others groveled in the ditch or jumped into the creek in an endeavor to put out the fire that was consuming them. Many of those overwhelmed by the flames dropped where they stood and never moved again.

Express wagons and other vehicles were pressed into service as ambulances. In the meantime those in the vicinity of the wreck who escaped injury made valiant efforts to rescue the wounded who were still lying within reach of the flames.

Boys were burned to death before their fathers' eyes, while the latter stood helpless to save them. Men so badly injured by the flying iron that they could not move laid in the gully with flames rolling down upon them until they perished. Nothing could be done to check the flames, which began to die out about midnight.

It was about 1 a. m. when Deputy Sheriff Osterhout called for volunteers to save the dead and injured.

Three times as many as were called for stepped forward and the gruesome work was begun.

When the last body had been rescued the stretcher bearers formed a procession and started down the track toward the ambulances and carriages. The crowd fell back and opened a passageway for them. The only sound that broke the stillness while the procession filed past was an occasional sob or a shuddering "Oh."

The remains of the dead arrived in the city about 3 o'clock.

SURVIVOR TELLS OF THE HORROR

NEW YORK, March 10.—William Walters, who was one of the few that escaped from the immediate vicinity of the wreck, told this story:

"I was walking down the track when the freight train broke in two. I heard a warning shout and then a crash; it was the two halves of the train coming together.

"Under the glare of electric lights I saw two of the tanks crash together, and then there arose a flash of fire which made the electric lights look like fireflies. A huge tongue of flame shot into the air, and in a few moments the two tanks were ablaze. Never thinking of the danger of an explosion, I ran down the tracks and stood as near the fire as I could.

"Then two policemen came running up and with the train crew they tried to drive the inquisitive people back.

"They said there might be an explosion any moment, but we fools would not believe them. Before five minutes had passed there must have been 500 people gathered near the fire.

"Some of them heeded the warning and withdrew to a safe distance, but several hundred stood their ground, moving backward only when the heat drove them.

"I was standing with my back to the telegraph pole when there came an explosion as if the world were coming to an end. I felt a singing in my ears and I had just strength enough left to move behind the pole.

"To this I think I owe my life, for in the same instant there came a louder and more terrible explosion. One car had exploded and then followed the other three.

"A cloud of fire seemed to shoot into the air, and I saw bodies lifted as if by magic and dashed 50 and 100 feet.

"Then the shower of fire began to fall. It came slowly at first, a few jagged spikes of flame, and then a perfect torrent of fire. The thin, sharp tongues when they touched the earth or an unconscious body spread out and glistened and glowed.

"The ground round the spot where the tanks had stood was a perfect sea of flame. The oil covered everything near the tracks like a flood, and it seethed and bubbled as it blazed.

"I stood behind the telegraph pole as long as I could, and then I ran. It was all I could do, for the pole was afire and to stay there another minute meant certain death.

"By great good luck I had been standing on the side of the track which was comparatively level, and I had a straight run to safety. On the way, however, I tripped over something black and smoking, and as I passed I caught a glimpse of a bleeding and distorted face.

"From all sides I could hear cries of agony rising, but I could do nothing but run. It was impossible to stay in the hell of fire and live. Soon I came to a crowd of would-be rescuers, standing in a frenzy wringing their hands at their abject helplessness. Near the tracks we could see several persons wading about in the shallow pool, gasping now and then for breath and trying to escape the flames which seemed to encircle them on every side.

"I saw a man rise three times from the ground, his clothes a mass of flames, and try to run toward us. We all shouted encouragement, but at last he went down to rise no more.

"It would be impossible to give an idea of the intense heat. Everything within 200 feet of the fire was almost burned to ashes.

"When the fire had burnt itself so low that we could go forward a short distance, we found bodies burning and some burned until there was nothing left except their skulls and charred trunks. And, impossible as it may seem, in that zone of fire we picked up a few who still lived."

Robbed a Hotel Guest.

Ed Mahoney, a roomer at the Gould Hotel at 5 South Sixth street, admits to the police that he robbed Alex Robinson, another roomer, of $45, $20 of which he had spent before his arrest. Twenty-five dollars was found tucked away in the lining of his trousers.

CRITICISES RESERVE LIFE

Judge Thayer Says Its Action in Lambert Case Was Contrary to Law and Fair Business Dealings.

Judge Thayer severely critisises the conduct of the Mutual Reserve Life Fund Association is taking advantage of a 30-day clause to cancel a life insurance policy held by Jacob Lambert, an aged man.

At the time the dispute arose in May, 1899, Mr. Lambert, a well-known citizen of St. Louis, was over 70 years of age and because he was two days late with the payment of his premium, the agent of the company announced that he would have to undergo another physical examination.

Mr. Lambert refused to take the examination and sued the company for the return of the money he had paid as premiums.

The case finally reached the United States Court of Appeals and the decision handed down Monday. In writing the decision Judge Thayer, who is supported by Judge Caldwell and opposed by Judge Sanborn, indicates that he regards it as simply an effort of the company to get rid of the obligation.

The verdict given for the company in the lower courts was reversed and the case remanded for trial.

In his opinion Judge Thayer says: "The construction of the provisions of the policy and the by-laws of the company in rejecting the policy is contrary to the law and to fair business dealings."

TESTING THE NEW ENGINES.

If There Is Excess of Efficiency the City Will Pay a Bonus.

At 9 o'clock Tuesday morning commenced the preliminary trial of the two new pumping engines at the waterworks to determine whether they have been properly installed.

These additions to the city's water plant were ordered on July 18, 1899, from the E. P. Ellis Co. of Milwaukee at a cost of $93,200 each. Some time within the first yea rof service the so-called "duty" of the engines will be tested and on this test will depend the price the city pays.

The contract calls for an efficiency of 135,000,000 foot pounds for each 1000 pounds of steam used. For each 1,000,000 foot pounds in excess the city will pay a bonus of $1000, while the builders will forfeit $1000 for each million foot pounds lacking. On two similar engines not long ago, the city paid bonuses of $40,000 each.

Dr. Hughes Appointed Delegate.

Dr. Charles H. Hughes, 3860 Pine street, has been appointed as a delegate to represent St. Louis at the Fourteenth International Medical Congress, at Madrid, Spain, April 24 to 30. The appointment is made by Secretary of State Hay. Many of the physicians going as delegates are planning extensive tours of Europe.

WABASH INJUNCTION CASE SET

Judge Adams Announces That He Will Hear Arguments on Tuesday, March 17.

In the United States Circuit Court Tuesday morning Judge Elmer B. Adams set Tuesday, March 17, as the date for hearing the arguments on the application to dissolve the injunction issued against labor leaders prohibiting them from inducing any Wabash railroad employes to quit work. Judge Adams announced that the case would be heard after the calling of the equity docket. The Wabash railway was given until Saturday to file affidavits in support of its application to make the injunction permanent.

Caretaker to Share Estate.

Mrs. Rosalie Berg, who for the past two years has been living on the property of Francis Moreau, near Creve Coeur Lake, was awarded 5.3 acres of land by Judge McElhinney in the circuit court at Clayton Monday as compensation for having cared for Moreau until his death. Moreau died in 1901, leaving all his property to his son. Mrs. Berg proved to the satisfaction of the court that when she and her husband went to Moreau's place they made an agreement with him to care for him as long as he lived, and were to have in return the property on which he was living.

DIED SITTING IN A CHAIR.

Heart Failure Causes the Death of Mrs. Mary Martin.

Mrs. Mary Martin of 1403 Chouteau avenue died of heart failure late Monday afternoon while sitting in a chair in the store of Thomas Hagenauer, 1500 Chouteau avenue. Mrs. Martin has lived in St. Louis 41 years, making her home with her nephew, M. J. Toohey, 1403 Chouteau avenue, or with her brother in Carondelet. She was on the way to the home of her nephew when she went into the store to rest and died while sitting in the chair.

After Sickness

Take Vinol—Our Great Strength Creator.

IT GIVES ONE A SPLENDID APPETITE.

AND QUICKLY REBUILDS THE SYSTEM.

We Will Refund the Price of Vinol if It Fails.

The patient's strength is depleted, his system is generally demoralized, relapses are continually feared, and naturally.

The one thing to aid recovery is to give the patient that which will enable him to get strong, and at the same time give strength direct to the different organs of the body.

Nothing will do this like Vinol.

It acts directly on the stomach, creates a healthy appetite, and enables the digestive organs to obtain the necessary elements to increase the weight of the patient and to make new healthy flesh and muscle tissue and pure, rich, red blood.

The following is a letter showing where Vinol was taken and did good after a case of sickness. It reads as follows:

"I wish to certify to the very great benefit which has been derived from the use of Vinol in my family. My wife was very sick with the grippe and afterward was wholly run down. One bottle of Vinol places her on her feet in better condition than she had been before in six months. I heartily recommend and endorse it."—HENRY F. STURTEVANT, 61 Huntington St., Brockton, Mass.

Everything that is in Vinol is plainly printed on the label of each package.

We know Vinol is a splendid preparation, and in many cases we have been able to see for ourselves the wonderful results it brings about.

Remember that we guarantee Vinol and refund the purchase money if you are not satisfied.

COL. PRODIGIOUS HAD A LONG SWIM

PROVED CHICAGO GERMS COULD TRAVEL THAT FAR

The Life and Adventures of the Colonel Form a Part of the Testimony in the Drainage Canal Case Which Is in Progress.

Col. Bacillus Prodigious is not a native of the Mississippi river or of the Chicago sewers. In fact none of his relatives lived in these communities until a few weeks ago.

When he slipped through the imigrant station, however, he and his relatives took kindly to the waters mentioned and are still supposed to be cavorting around, making the acquaintance of bacillus typhoid and bacillus laziness.

Col. Bacillus Prodigious is said to be one member of the bacillus race who has no evil designs on humans. He is a moral bacillus and well behaved.

He and two or three jugsful of his numerous progeny were brought from Germany and sent to a beef broth hospital, where they multiplied and replenished the earth.

Dr. Amand Ravold, who is looking after the interests of St. Louis in the St. Louis-Chicago bacillus controversy, was caring for the colonel and his family, and one morning he came down to his office and cried "Eureka!"

He then had 200 barrels of carefully reared descendants of Col. Bacillus Prodigious, and they were taken to an Alton fast freight and treated to an excursion to Chicago.

Set Adrift in Chicago River.

Once in Chicago Dr. Ravold forgot the care he had bestowed upon his microbic friends and unfeelingly dumped the whole 200 barrels in the drainage canal, regardless of liability to arrest by the drainage canal police.

The police did not see the colonel, however, and after assuring themselves that he was safe in the murky waters Dr. Ravold and party slipped away and came down to the Chain-of-Rocks to await developments.

After figuring on the strength of the current, the motive power of the colonel and other matters that are to be considered in water excursions, Dr. Ravold set a day and went a-fishing.

At the psychological moment a cast was made and here came the colonel, well and hearty and clamoring for beef broth. The Chicago water was pretty good, according to his report, and it would easily support his sort of life, but he preferred the broth.

Just what became of him afterward Dr. Ravold did not make clear to Special Commissioner Bright, who is taking depositions in the famous drainage canal case for the United States Court.

The life and adventures of Col. Bacillus Prodigious was an entirely new story to the Chicago attorneys in the case and there is a probability that they will recommend that the drainage canal police department be given a shaking up for letting such a husky microbe slip by them.

The complete bacillus story will not necessarily be completed before Oct. 9, as that is the date set by the United States Court for concluding the taking of depositions.

Col. Prodigious derives his name from his size. He is a regular brobdignagian microbe, but very amiable.

COLUMBIA'S NEW BILL PLEASING

Will M. Cressy at the Columbia yesterday demonstrated his ability as an actor as well as a playwright in a little sketch entitled "Bill Biffin's Baby." It is a clever idea, and it tells the story of a down east resident who has arranged to take care of the daughter of an old chum.

The old chum writes to the New Englander that he is dying and wants him to care for his baby. The New Englander takes the request literally and prepares a cradle and other infantile paraphernalia. When the baby arrives she is a "big girl." The little sketch is full of clean, quiet humor, and made a hit with the Columbia's big audience.

There are other good things on the bill, among which the work of C. H. Unthan, the armless wonder, is a most remarkable exhibition. The Livingstons, acrobats, also do an excellent turn. The trio consists of a man and two women, and the work o fthe latter in skirts is quite remarkable.

Terry, Elmer and company appear in a sketch called "The Dancing Missionary." If the team would cut out the sketch and stick to the dance it wouldn't be an altogether bad act.

The complete bill is made up of the following other artists: Murphy and Slater, singing and dancing coons; Nesson and Nesson, comedy club and hoop jugglers; De Vaney and Allen, plantation sketch artists; Posturing Pascatel, the man with a hundred forms; Wood and Bates, musical comedians; Raimund and Vack, German comedians; Tim Cronin in imitations and Duryea and Kearney in "The Imposter."

DEFENDS HOUSTON STATUE

Daughter of General Says Representation of Him as an Indian Is Appropriate.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

AUSTIN, Tex., March 10.—Mrs. Nettie Houston Bringhurst, daughter of Gen. Sam Houston, has issued an answer to Judge John H. Reagan's criticism of the design of the statue of her father to be placed in the capital at Washington which represents him as an Indian. She says Gen. Houston's children have always gloried in his stories of Indian life. Continuing she says:

"No one knows better than Judge Reagan that it was Gen. Houston's thorough understanding of the character of the red man that made treaties possible in the stormy days of the young republic. It was the same far-reaching intelligence that made him the invaluable counselor of more than one President of the United States.

"Nor was the self-exile of Sam Houston in his forest home entirely beyond the pale of civilization. The Cherokees were neither uncultured nor unlearned. His adopted father, Oolooteka, was a wealthy chieftain, owning many slaves and great possessions. Much of this property he left to his adopted son after designating him as his successor. Gen. Houston gave the property to his red brother and resigned the chieftainship of the Cherokees.

"Almost every concession made to the Indian people by the white man in his policy of plunder is directly the result of Houston's intervention and championship, and so he stands today the hero and idol, not only of the Cherokees, but of the five civilized tribes."

Shipyard Strike Ordered.

NEW YORK, March 10.—A general tieup of all the trades at the Townsend-Downey shipbuilding yards on Shooters' Island was ordered by the Marine Trades Council, in sympathy with the boilermakers now on strike at the yards. About 2000 men will be affected by the strike, including patternmakers, blacksmiths and helpers, machinists, riggers, members of the Brotherhood of Painters, which is a national organization and ship calkers.

TOOK ACID AFTER A QUARREL

Mrs. Ada Reynolds is at the City Hospital in a dangerous condition as the result of taking a dose of carbolic acid. Harry Reynolds, her husband, is held a prisoner at the Fourth District police station to await the results of the inquiry into the death of his wife.

According to the story told by Reynolds he was arrested a few weeks ago on complaint of his wife and sent to the workhouse for disturbing her peace. He was sentenced for six months, but his mother came to his rescue and he gained his liberty Monday. When within a few feet of his home at 1406 North Fourteenth street, he met his wife and another woman, intoxicated, and persuaded his wife to go home with him.

At the door he met a strange man, who seemed to be making himself at home. He then quarreled with his wife over the state of affairs and she took the poison.

Will Relates to Funeral.

Mrs. Mary Ann Meyers, whose will has been filed for probate, devoted a large part of the document to making provision for her funeral. She directed that the remains of her husband, who died almost twenty years ago, be exhumed and placed with hers in a casket which is to cost from $75 to $100. Flowers, which must not cost more than $25, are to be placed on her grave in Bellefontaine Cemetery. The will specified that her shroud must not cost more than $15.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES TODAY

Candidates for House and Convention Delegates Will Be Selected.

Democratic primaries commence Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock and close at 8. With the exception of four possible contests there will be little rivalry. The contests will be in the Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Nineteenth and Twentieth wards.

In the Fifteenth ward Delegate Andrew Gazzolo is a candidate for re-election. His opponents are Fred W. Scherrer and John Reardon. In the Twentieth ward "Paddy" Brennan and John J. O'Brien want to be delegates. Timothy Maloney is the only Sixteenth ward Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates. George R. Norp and John Casey are both candidates for the House of Delegates from the Nineteenth ward.

The convention will be held Wednesday in the West End Coliseum.

The Republican primaries will be held Wednesday and the convention Thursday.

Louisville's New Line.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 10.—President Milton H. Smith of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, who spent the day in Atlanta, made the following announcement:

"By the first of next January at the latest the Louisville & Nashville will be running through trains between Atlanta and Cincinnati, over its own lines and with its own crews."

England's Big War Chest.

LONDON, March 10.—Mr. Broderick wants £34,500,000 for the army next year. Lord Selborn requires the same amount for the navy. The army estimates have never been approached except in time of war, and the navy estimates, which exceed the current year's figures by £3,500,000, have broken all records.

GRIP BACILLUS COMING WESTWARD

Bacillus of Grip Magnified 16,000 Times.

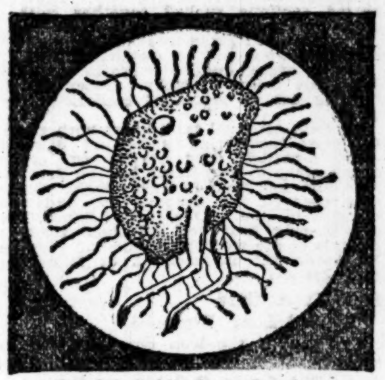
Moving Rapidly Westward.



(Special Cable from London.)

It Has Already Crossed England and the Atlantic.

Has Reached New York Where it is Now Epidemic.

"The Epidemic Will Be General All Over the United States in a Few Days."

"MEDICAL TALK" Says:

Speaking of remedies for la grippe, the editor of Medical Talk, one of the popular journals of the present time, says: "Whatever may be said against proprietary medicines in a general way, the fact remains that there are more people who rely upon Peruna as a remedy for la grippe than use all other remedies combined. No other remedy is so widely used and implicity believed in as a remedy for la grippe as Peruna. There is no way to account for this fact except that Peruna is what the people believe it to be—a specific for la grippe."

Mrs. Theophile Schmitt, wife of the Ex-Secretary of the German consulate, writes the following letter from 3417 Wabash avenue, Chicago, Ill.:

"I suffered this winter with a severe attack of la grippe. After using three bottles of Peruna I found the la grippe had disappeared."—Mrs. T. Schmitt.

Representative J. H. Caldwell, from Benton, La., writes:

"I have found Peruna to be a most effective remedy for la grippe."—Representative J. H. Caldwell.

Congressman Geo. H. White from Tarboro, N. C., says:

"I find Peruna to be an excellent remedy for the grip. I am more than satisfied with it."—Congressman Geo. H. White.

Hon. James R. Guill, of Omaha, Neb., writes:

"I am 68 years old, am hale and hearty, and Peruna has helped me attain it. Two years ago I had la grippe—my life was despaired of. Peruna saved me."—Hon. James R. Guill.

Mrs. Harriet A. S. Marsh, President of the Woman's Benevolent Association, of Chicago, writes:

"I suffered with grip seven weeks. Nothing helped me. Tried Peruna and within three weeks I was fully restored. Shall never be without it again."—Mrs. Harriet A. S. Marsh.

La grippe has always been a peculiarly fatal disease. Its ravages are not so alarming as diphtheria, or so much dreaded as smallpox, but its number of victims are greater than either.

Silently—insidiously—it gathers in its fearful harvest of precious lives. It does not spread from man to man like a contagious disease, nor does it belong to limited localities like malaria. It is in the air everywhere. It is of climatic origin. No man can escape from it, no woman is safe from it.

LaGrippe Is Epidemic Catarrh.

La grippe is acute catarrh excited by peculiar climatic conditions. It sweeps across a continent in a single week, like the blizzard of winter or the hot wave of summer. It does not depopulate whole villages like the black plague, nor desolate a home like malignant diphtheria, but it counts its single victims here and there incessantly, night and day, week after week.

Since 1850 Dr. Hartman

Has passed through four or five epidemics of la grippe. During all this time he has conducted an extensive practice of medicine. Few (if any) physicians prescribe for so many patients. His experience in climatic diseases has been simply prodigious.

Thousands of patients are continually under his directions, either personally or by correspondence. The Doctor's fame in treating la grippe is known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The Doctor believes that he has never yet lost a case of la grippe, and is enthusiastic in the conviction that he never will.

Dr. Hartman's Remedy.

The remedy upon which the Doctor has relied for the cure of la grippe for over forty years is Peruna. Peruna is a scientific catarrh specific. It cures catarrh whether acute or chronic.

La grippe is simply acute catarrh.

Almost everybody knows that Peruna will cure acute catarrh. But not many know that la grippe is simply acute catarrh. If they did they would use Peruna with the same surety of a cure as in any other case of acute catarrh.

Already the news is rapidly spreading that Peruna is a prompt and unfailing remedy for la grippe.

The demand for Peruna North, South, East and West, is taxing the utmost facilities of the drug trade, which sometimes rages as an epidemic.

The present epidemic of la grippe will increase this demand four-fold.

The resources for the manufacture of Peruna are not unlimited. This extraordinary demand may exceed the possible supply of it.

Every Person, Especially Every Family, Should provide themselves at once with a supply of this well-tested remedy for la grippe.

Peruna has been the regular prescription of Dr. Hartman for over forty years. It has become the safeguard of thousands of households. In the midst of this epidemic no one should fail to take a dose of Peruna before each meal to guard against the possibility of an attack.

Those stricken with the disease should begin with teaspoonful doses of Peruna every hour, and continue until the acute symptoms subside, after which two teaspoonfuls before meals will be sufficient to continue the treatment until complete recovery.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

"I AM POSITIVELY OUT OF POLITICS"

—GROVER CLEVELAND

Ex-President Positive in Declaring He Is Out of It.

"NOTHING IS FURTHER FROM MY THOUGHTS"

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Grover Cleveland has put himself out of consideration as a possible candidate for the presidency by definitely declaring himself out of politics.

Mr. Cleveland, who has not been in such good health since he quit the White House, came to town Saturday to be one of the speakers at the Beecher memorial meeting. He has been the guest of Oscar Straus, his former minister to Turkey.

He has made the most of his tibe, going to the theater Saturday night and again last night.

"Politics is absolutely the remotest thought in my mind, and has been for several years," said the ex-President today. "In spite of all the reports attaching political significance to my visit, I have not taken and have not thought of taking part in any political conferences.

"I AM OUT OF POLITICS. I AM OUT FOR GOOD. Every time I, for any reason, find it necessary to come to New York, a story is started to the effect that there is politics in the trip. These reports place me in a wrong light before the nation. Set the public right by saying that NOTHING IS FURTHER FROM MY MIND THAN POLITICS."

Asked if he had seen Mr. Edward M. Shepard on his trip, Mr. Cleveland said:

"I saw Mr. Shepard for two minutes at the Beecher meeting Sunday night, but what he said to me was as far removed from politics as it is possible for anything to be.

"At the time I was here last to attend the Hewitt memorial meeting, it was reported that I had been in conference with Mr. Olney, Mr. Whitney, Mr. Shepard and others. I have not seen Mr. Whitney for six years. When I came to New York I did not know that Mr. Olney was within 1000 miles of the city. There was no more politics in my visit than there is now. I came here this time solely to speak at the Beecher memorial meeting."

Mr. Cleveland appeared very much in earnest in emphasizing his statment that he was out of politics.

"I have preached Democratic doctrines all my life," he continued, "and shall continue to do so, but as far as active participation in party affairs goes, I shall have no part in it. I am content to remain a quiet citizen, and in that capacity I am thoroughly content."

This question was submitted to Mr. Cleveland:

"We have a situation now in which the Republicans are claiming to be able to eliminate trust evils by publicity measures and by the enforcement of certain acts regulating commerce, while the Democrats and some part of the independent voters on the other hand claim that the only adequate remedy is the reform of the tariff. Will you state what part you think trusts and tariff will play in the campaign of 1904?"

The ex-President said in reply:

"You say this for me—that Mr. Cleveland gave it as his opinion that the trust question would not be eliminated from the next Presidential canvass and expresses himself as being entirely unable to see how the question could be wholly divorced from the tariff issue."

Then he added with emphasis, "to say nothing of the absolute necessity of a good old-fashioned insisitance upon tariff reform for its own sake and what it would do for the people of the country."

Mr. Cleveland was asked if he thought silver would figure at all as an issue within the Democratic party, and he said:

"I did not know that anyone thought about silver nowadays."

JAMES HAS ODD PARALYSIS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 10.—Ollie James, representative from the Paducah congressional district, is dangerously ill at his home in Marion with a disease that so far has baffled his physicians.

He spent a few weeks recently in Louisville taking treatment for an eye affliction, and suffered a slight attack of the grip. He returned to his home, and 10 days ago the symptoms of muscular paralysis were noticed. The disease appeared to affect the left side of the face just above the eyes. It has continued to descend until now his body from his forehead to the region of his heart is affected. His illness has greatly alarmed his friends. His condition is reported as critical.

Mr. James is one of the best-known Democratic politicians in Kentucky, and was elected last November to represent the First district in Congress.

He weighs close to 350 pounds.

DRY AND DULL AT CAPITOL

No Liquor Sold in House Restaurant Now and Three-Fourths of the Waiters Are Discharged.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—"Nothing doin'" was the sign at the House restaurant today. So far as intoxicating liquors were concerned it was as "dry" as a Sunday school excursion. Clerk of the House McDowell served notice on the proprietor of the restaurant that because of the passage of the immigration bill no more could be sold.

There is a provision in this bill, slipped in as a joke, that prohibits the sale of liquors, and when the President signed the bill Wednesday it became a law.

As no penalty was fixed the proprietor of the restaurant continued selling until Clerk McDowell ordered him to cease.

The proprietor then packed up all liquors and sent them back to the wholesalers. The number of waiters has been reduced from 28 to seven. The Senate restaurant is also dry.

THE BRUNSWICK-BALKE-COLLENDER CO.

Has secured the order from the Missouri Athletic Club for 17 Billiard and Pool Tables of special design, Nine Bowling Alleys, the finest that can be produced, Five Cocked Hat and Four Tenpins. Everything to be the finest that this company of world famed reputation can produce.

MINISTERS APPEAL TO SENATE.

They Desire Perpetual Saloon License Bill Defeated.

In a series of resolutions passed by the evangelical alliance ,one of the recommendations is that the office of excise commissioner shall be abolished. The meeting of the alliance was called in accordance with a suggestion made by Rev. Father Coffey in a paper read to the members two weeks ago.

A protest against Senate bill No. 70, which grants perpetual saloon licenses, was also embodied in the resolutions. Rev. B. P. Fullerton was chosen to go to Jefferson City and present the resolutions to the legislature.

MISS ROOSEVELT TO GO TO PORTO RICO

She Will Visit the Daughter of Governor Hunt.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Miss Alice Roosevelt has arranged to visit Porto Rico. She will be the first member of the President's family to inspect one of the new American possessions. She will sail from New York next Saturday on the steamer Coami. The steamer is due to reach San Juan March 19.

Miss Roosevelt will be the guest of Miss Elizabeth Hunt, daughter of Gov. Hunt. She is now in New York and will accompany Miss Roosevelt to her own home.

Secretary Moody, who is going South, will probably visit San Juan during Miss Roosevelt's stay there and place the Dolphin at her disposal for the purpose of seeing neighboring islands.

The duration of Miss Roosevelt's visit to the colonial executive has not been definitely fixed, but it is thought she will return to Washington in about two weeks.

BANKER'S SON IS FRAUD PRISONER

Galveston Young Man Is Taken on Sick Bed to Washington.

Weakened by an attack of pneumonia and unable to sit up, even in bed, Ed McCarthy, Jr., son of a wealthy Galveston, Tex., banker was in St. Louis Tuesday morning for a few hours waiting to be taken to Washington D. C., where he is charged with defrauding the Union National Bank.

Several months ago McCarthy, who is but 21 years old, was in the East and made some expensive friends in theatrical circles.

He needed some money to meet his bills and presented a bill of exchange drawn upon his father at Union National Bank and secured $200. His father refused the bill.

United States Marshal John H. Green of Galveston arrested the young man a few days ago at Colorado City, Tex. He is recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia and is not yet able to sit up.

Marshal Green received a telegram from the father, stating that he was on his way to Washington to be of any assistance he could to his son.

Mr. Reginald Vanderbilt Will Pay Out That Amount in Fitting Up His Country Home at Portsmouth R. I. for the Reception of His Bride.

NEWPORT, R. I., March 10.—Changes which Mr. Reginald Vanderbilt has recently had made in the plans for the development of his Sandy Point farm house, in Portsmouth, will necessitate a total expenditure of about $500,000. It will also occasion such a long delay in the completion of the work that the residence will not be finished till autumn, although the force of mechanics has nearly been doubled this week.

Three rooms in the house, however, will be ready on April 15, and it is understood that these will be occupied by Mr. Vanderbilt and the future Mrs. Vanderbilt soon after their wedding, which will take place about that time.

The dimensions of the house are 150 by 75 feet, and the style of architecture is old colonial. The exterior finish will be of plaster, which will give a stone effect. The structure will be two stories high, with a large hall, dining room, drawing room, reception room, billiard room and "den" on the lower floor. Broad piazzas will run all around the house, and one will be embellished with a stone settee arched overhead and having a width of 10 feet.

The servants will have quarters in a separate house, and there will also be a stable large enough for the keeping of 50 horses, a coach house 100 by 50 feet, a building for automobiles 41 by 24 feet, a gardener's lodge, a power house and a pumping station.

All the plans are by Mr. Vanderbilt himself, though, of course, an architect was employed to prepare details and specifications.

In His Way.

"He's forever running down architecture."

"Nonsense. Why, that's his own business. He's an architect."

"Yes, but he's learning to operate an automobile. Perhaps I should have said 'he's running up against architecture.'"

COUGHING MADE HIS NOSE BLEED

For Eight Hours Surgeons Tried in Vain to Stop the Hemorrhage.

A fit of coughing may cost Clinton Massey his life. During the paroxysm he ruptured a blood vessel in his nose and City Hospital surgeons have been unable to stop the hemorrhage.

Massey until two weeks ago was sexton of the Holy Rosary Church at 3916 Newstead avenue. He has a room at the Silver Hotel, Seventh and St. Charles streets. Tuesday morning about 1 o'clock he coughed so violently he could not sleep. During one particularly bad spell he felt a sharp pain in his nose and the blood flowed from his nostrils in a stream.

He was sent to the City Hospital, where the surgeons after eight hours' constant work succeeded in partially abating the flow of blood, but Massey is in a very weak condition, and it is feared he will die unless the hemorrhage can be wholly stopped.

Before working as a church sexton, Massey, who is 40 years of age, was a telegraph operator. He has many friends who follow that vocation in St. Louis.

MRS. OELRICHS IN DILEMMA

New York, Where She Swore Off Taxes, Says She Told San Francisco Her Residence Was in Gotham.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs may be compelled to establish before the tax board by evidence her sworn statement that she resides in California, and therefore is not liable to an assessment of $1,000,000 on personal property.

President Wells has been informed that last year Mrs. Oelrichs escaped payment of taxes in San Francisco by claiming that her legal residence was in New York.

If the tax commissioners establish the fact that Mrs. Oelrichs made such a representation to the authorities in California they will place her name, with the full assessment of $1,000,000, on the final assessment rolls.

Extraordinary Sale of Skirts

NEARLY a thousand sample Dress Skirts secured from one of New York's largest manufacturers at less than half the wholesale cost, will be placed on sale tomorrow at an unheard-of price.

$10.00, $12.50, $15.00, $18.00 and $20.00 Dress Skirts for $5.98.

THE sale of such high-class Skirts at so low a price is absolutely without a parallel. Mere words are inadequate to convey to you the magnitude of this sale. A simple glance at the garments will impress you a thousandfold more than we could by giving a voluminous description of the styles, materials, etc. We say, without hesitancy, that these are $10.00, $12.50, $15.00, $18.00 and $20.00 Skirts. Furthermore, we urge you to inspect the garments that you may realize the truthfulness of our statement. It was simply through an unusual market condition and trade occurrence that we got possession of these fine garments at an extremely low figure.

There are nearly 200 styles of from 2 to 8 of a style, representing twelve traveling men's sample lines. They are all of the ever staple black, in the newest silk and wool fabrics.

This Taffeta Silk Skirt, $5.98.

This Broadcloth Skirt, $5.98.

This Peau de Soie Skirt, $5.98.

WE CAUTION you not to let the price that we are offering these garments for confuse you as to their true worth. We repeat again that these are positively $10,00, $12.50, $15.00, $18.00 and $20.00 Skirts. They are made of the finest imported Broadcloths, Cheviots, Venetians, Serges, Zibelines, Voiles, Etamines, Taffetas and Peau de Soies, unlined or with separate drop skirts, many of the drop skirts having taffeta silk flounces (all are the ever staple black), plain tailored in five, seven, nine and eleven gored flare styles and flounce effects or trimmed in various pretty styles with self straps, taffeta and Peau de Soie folds, silk braids and tassels, hemstitching; also many pleated and kilted effects. Many of the silk skirts are trimmed with silk braids, lace medallions and fancy applique over taffeta or net. They are all this season's newest and most approved modes (four of which are here illustrated). The price we offer them at will undoubtedly crowd our second floor as never before. Remember, there are but two to eight of a style, therefore early choosing is preferable. Once more we tell you these are $10.00, $12.50, $15.00, $18.00 and $20.00 skirts—your choice of the entire lot for.................. $5.98

River Trade Flourishing.

Shortage of freight cars has made the business of the packets on the river unusually brisk at this season of the year. Many of the steamers are unable to transport all the freight offered them, and this spring promises to be one of the most profitable seasons of recent years. Many of the packet lines running out of St. Louis have added one or more boats to their freight-carrying force. So urgent is the need for freight-carrying bottoms that even the excursion steamer Hill City has accepted a charter. She will take 1500 tons of grain to Vicksburg.

Fibroid Tumors Cured.

A distressing case of Fibroid Tumor, which baffled the skill of Boston doctors. Mrs. Hayes, of Boston, Mass., in the following letter tells how she was cured, after everything else failed, by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Hayes' First Letter Appealing to Mrs. Pinkham for Help:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been under Boston doctors' treatment for a long time without any relief. They tell me I have a fibroid tumor. I cannot sit down without great pain, and the soreness extends up my spine. I have bearing-down pains both back and front. My abdomen is swollen, and I have had flowing spells for three years. My appetite is not good. I cannot walk or be on my feet for any length of time.

"The symptoms of Fibroid Tumor given in your little book accurately describe my case, so I write to you for advice."—(Signed) Mrs. E. F. HAYES, 252 Dudley St., (Roxbury) Boston, Mass.

Note the result of Mrs. Pinkham's advice—although she advised Mrs. Hayes, of Boston, to take her medicine—which she knew would help her—her letter contained a mass of additional instructions as to treatment, all of which helped to bring about the happy result.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Sometime ago I wrote to you describing my symptoms and asked your advice. You replied, and I followed all your directions carefully, and to-day I am a well woman.

"The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound entirely expelled the tumor and strengthened my whole system. I can walk miles now.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth five dollars a drop. I advise all women who are afflicted with tumors or female trouble of any kind to give it a faithful trial."—(Signed) MRS. E. F. HAYES, 252 Dudley St., (Roxbury) Boston, Mass.

Mountains of gold could not purchase such testimony—or take the place of the health and happiness which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought to Mrs. Hayes.

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for all the distressing ills of women; all ovarian troubles; tumors; inflammations; ulceration, falling and displacements of the womb; backache; irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation. Surely the volume and character of the testimonial letters we are daily printing in the newspapers can leave no room for doubt.

Mrs. Hayes at her above address will gladly answer any letters which sick women may write for fuller information about her illness. Her gratitude to Mrs. Pinkham and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so genuine and heartfelt that she thinks no trouble is too great for her to take in return for her health and happiness.

Truly is it said that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing so many women, and no other medicine; don't forget this when some druggist wants to sell you something else.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.
Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

HOUSE APPROVES STREET CAR BILL

Measure Sent to Engrossment After Turbulent Session of Delegates.

At a stormy session of the House of Delegates the bill providing for better street car service was sent to engrossment Monday night. During the argument for and against the bill threats of great bodily harm were freely made.

Soon after the House adjourned there seemed a prospect of a general melee, but the only blows struck were by Speaker Fontana, who was quieted by his more pacific colleagues.

The trouble started when the committee on legislation made its report on the street railway bill. This measure provides for the regulation of the street railway service. It has been in the House of Delegates since last August. It was introduced by Delegate Kelly and voted down twice, but substitute measures have always been introduced in the place of the bill killed.

Two reports were made at Monday evening's session. The minority report was signed by Delegates Sweeney and Zachritz. The majority report, recommending the passage of the bill, was signed by Delegates Oberbeck, Kinney and Koeln.

Delegate Sweeney was exceedingly angry because he had not been able to win a majority of the committee to his views.

In a sharp debate Delegate Kelly told Speaker Fontana he had never been elected. Fontana ordered Kelly to take his seat, but it was several minutes before the dialogue, which bristled with personalities, was terminated.

MRS. GRANT'S FRIEND'S WILL.

Mrs. Mary N. Long Left 200 Acres of Land to Daughter.

Mrs. Mary N. Long, in her will, which has been filed for probate, leaves 200 acres of land on the Gravois road to her adopted daughter, Mrs. Mary Moore. The farm is valued at $40,000.

The testatrix was a friend of Miss Julia Dent, with whom she went to school. When U. S. Grant married Miss Dent the young couple set up housekeeping in a very humble way. During times when provisions were scarce John Long loaned the Grants some of the necessaries of life. In after years, when Grant became President, this kindly act was rewarded by the appointment of Long as collector of the port of St. Louis. John F. Long, who was one of the first judges of St. Louis County, has been dead 15 years.

HODGES DECLINES THE HONOR.

The Captain Will Not Again Be a Candidate for the Council.

Capt. William R. Hodges declines to be a candidate for the City Council again because there is no remuneration for the time and expense necessary to give the office the attention it should have. He says the design of the framers of the charter was that men of wealth should take the places for the honor connected therewith, but the honor has a hollow sound, and all one hears is the greeting: "Well, I see you are still out of jail." Capt. Hodges has been in the Council four years.

FIGHTERS' SONS FOR NAVY.

Roosevelt Appoints Young Sampson and Young Philip to the Academy at Annapolis.

J. Woodward Philip, son of the late Rear Admiral John W. Philip, of battleship Texas fame.

Alfred Miles, a nephew of Commander Hugo Osterhaus, in charge of ships at the Naval Academy.

Otis W. Howard, son of Maj. Guy Howard, who was shot in the Philippines, and a grandson of Gen. O. O. Howard, has received an appointment from Congressman Mercer.

HAVE NOT THE RIGHT OF WAY.

Court Holds Motormen Must Use Ordinary Care to Avoid Accidents.

A decision of the United States Court of Appeals, just handed down, is that motormen must use, at least, ordinary vigilance to protect from injury pedestrians and vehicles using the tracks as a means of safety or to avoid bad places in streets. The motorman must not proceed on the supposition that he has a clear track. The case in which the decision was given was that of Cora Hageman vs. The Southern Electric Railroad. She was injured while driving on the tracks to avoid a large mud hole.

HIT HIS WIFE WITH A HAMMER.

Mrs. Minnie Wilbert Is Thought to Be Dying in Kirkwood.

Mrs. Minnie Wilbert, a negress, is thought to be dying at the home of her parents in Kirkwood as the result of a blow on the head from a six-pound sledge hammer wielded by her husband, Joe Wilbert. The couple had been living in Chicago, but reached Kirkwood to visit Mrs. Wilbert's parents, named Wallace. Wilbert quarreled with his wife Monday and used the hammer on her. Then he struck Mrs. Wallace and his 2-year-old child and chased his father-in-law with a revolver. He is at large.

Czar to Start Y. M. C. A.

NEW YORK, March 10.—M. Boutakoff, Russian naval attache, stationed at Washington, has been the guest of Rear Admiral Parker at the New York navy yard. He inspected the Helen Gould building, devoted to the naval Y. M. C. A. M. Boutakoff said the Czar contemplated the establishment of Y. M. C. A. buildings for his soldiers and sailors, and was anxious to learn how such buildings were conducted in America.

Shot at Militia Guards.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., March 10.—Sentries stationed around the three mills affected by the smeltermen's strike were fired upon at midnight. There were physical encounters between workmen going to and coming from the mills, and employes were guarded from their homes to the mills by details of infantry. Deputy sheriffs were held up at the point of guns, and two narrow escapes from bullets fired at close range were reported by one of the sentinels, the other by Deputy Sheriff Benton on guard at the Telluride mine.

Stone Felled Pedestrian.

James Keeshan, aged 50, living at 126 Market street, is at the City Hospital, suffering from a severe scalp wound, the result of being struck by a stone which fell from a work train on the elevated railroad tracks. Keeshan was walking under the tracks when struck by the stone and knocked down. He is employed by Charles E. Prunty at Main and Market streets.

DECISION ON BAUMHOFF SOON

Appointment Is Expected Before Adjournment of Senate Special Session.

In the absence of definite information as to the date of the appointment of the St. Louis postmaster, the belief in Washington is that an appointment will be made very soon.

The papers relating to the appointment are now before President Roosevelt for his personal action. It is known that President Roosevelt has kept very closely in touch with the developments in the case, and it is expected that he will act shortly.

Postmaster-General Payne has left Washington for a three weeks' vacation, but his absence is not expected to delay the appointment when the President makes his decision.

ASSAULTED BY A NEGRO.

William Speck Says He Don't Know Why He Was Hit With a Club.

William Speck, aged 25, living at 1600 Washington avenue, was assaulted by a negro early Tuesday morning while walking along Market street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets. Speck was suffering from a severe scalp wound when he reported to Policeman Weaver at Union Station and was sent to the City Hospital. He says he had no money and there was no attempt at robbery, and he cannot understand why he was hit. The negro jumped from a doorway and struck him one blow with a club.

SEEK TO ENJOIN THE CITY.

Objections to Street Improvements on Ground of No Competition.

Three petitions asking that the city be enjoined from carrying out certain street improvements have been filed in the Circuit Court. The plaintiffs are the Royal Investment Co., Robert H. Keiser, Catherine E. Gartside and Robert W. Gartside. It is alleged that certain specifications in ordinances No. 20941-2-3 prevented competition, so they ask that the ordinances be declared null and void.

The ordinances call for bids to pave Union boulevard from Forest Park to Delmar avenue, Delmar from King's highway to Union boulevard and Maple avenue from Hamilton avenue to Hodiamont avenue with macadam having a top dressing of either porphyry or granite and specify a bituminous binding material.

The specification complained of calls for "Warren's Bitumen." This substance is controlled by one firm, it is alleged.

GUIDI ON CATHOLIC SCHISM

Apostolic Delegate to Philippines Found It Grave, but Is Overcoming It by Persuasion.

ROME, March 10.—Another report from Archbishop Guidi, the apostolic delegate in the Philippines, has just been received at the Vatican. It gives a fuller account of the religious condition of the island.

The schism started by Agliya, the leader of the independent Catholic church in the Philippines, seems graver than it first appeared, as, according to the report, a strong Filipino party is raising false hopes among the natives of independence from Rome, claiming that the expulsion of the friars is indispensable in order to obtain the independence of the country. The apostate priests are 14 in number.

It is gathered from good sources that the Vatican is extremely satisfied with the prudent and wise, but at the same time energetic action of Archbishop Guidi, who, with persuasion, has succeeded in checking the dissident movement.

Mystic Workers of the World.

The Popular Secretary of a Lodge in Greenwood, Ind., Tells of His Cure By

Paine's Celery Compound

Earth's Best Spring Medicine.

Spring showers, warm and glowing sunshine and bright skies cannot contribute to the pleasure and enjoyment of the sick and diseased to any extent. Pain, anxiety, gloomy fears and the thought of death all combine at the present time to make the lives of such dark and miserable.

Are you debilitated, nervous, sleepless, dyspeptic, rheumatic or tormented with neuralgia? Have you deadly kidney disease? Is your liver torpid and diseased? If so, Paine's Celery Compound will raise you from the fearful pit of danger. It saved the life of Mr. J. D. Leisure of Greenwood, Ind., after the utter failures of medical specialists. You, dear sufferer, can command the use of the same heaven-blessed medicine for your weakness and illness. It will give you what you seek for—health and new happiness. Mr. Leisure, Secretary of Greenwood Lodge No. 438, Mystic Workers of the World, says:—

"I used Paine's Celery Compound for general debility, run down nervous system and an aggravated case of indigestion. I had spent over $200 with physicians, some of them specialists, but only obtained temporary relief. I also tried all patent medicines of any note which were recommended for cases such as mine, but with no better results than that obtained from treatment of physicians. The last medicine I tried was Paine's Celery Compound, which gave me relief from the very start. I have taken nearly six bottles, and am happy to say am now enjoying the best of health. I can eat anything, sleep well, feel well, and am gaining in weight every day. To Paine's Celery Compound I owe my present good health."

PLANS ANOTHER WEST END HOTEL

TWO IMPORTANT REAL ESTATE DEALS ON TWELFTH

Leo Moser, by a Purchase at Twelfth and Market, Controls a Block Frontage and Is Believed to Have Hotel Plans.

Joseph Gerardi, proprietor of the Grand Avenue and Westmoreland hotels, has plans perfected for a new first-class family hotel and is said to have sufficient capital enlisted to carry out the project.

Mrs. Gerardi, speaking for Mr. Gerardi, admitted Tuesday that plans for a hotel had been made and that if one were built a corner at King's highway and Maryland avenue would in all probability be selected. The location being directly opposite Forest Park and at the terminus of the Olive street division of the transit system would render it especially desirable for hotel purposes.

"The deal for the hotel is in an incipient state," said Mrs. Gerardi, "and there is nothing definite yet.

"This is not going to be a hotel built on paper, neither is it going to be one of those airy-fabric million dollar affairs exploited so often. The hotel now in contemplation will be of medium size—in the neighborhood of seven stories, strictly fireproof, and will cost from $500,000 to $600,000."

Mrs. Gerardi stated Mr. Aloe had extended Mr. Gerardi's lease of the Grand Avenue hotel covering the World's Fair period.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dwyer is said to have plans for a big new hotel for her lot at Union and De Giverville avenues. Lorenzo E. Anderson, vice-president of the Mercantile Trust Co., which acts for Mrs. Dwyer in all of her real estate transactions, denied the report.

The southwest corner of Twelfth and Pine streets, owned by the Turner Real Estate Co., has been sold to a client of the F. H. & C. B. Gerhardt Real Estate Co. for $65,000. The identity of the purchaser is withheld pending the filing of the deed for record. The lot, which is occupied by an old three-story brick building, has 28 feet 8 inches on Twelfth street by 100 feet 2 inches on Pine street, and is the keynote to that quarter of the block.

Leo Moser, proprietor of the Moser Hotel, has acquired the property of Charles H. Turner at the northeast corner of Twelfth and Market streets, the consideration being withheld. The property has a frontage of 100 feet 2 inches on Twelfth street by a depth of 100 feet 3 inches on Market street to an alley. Mr. Moser owns the southeast corner of Twelfth and Chestnut streets and by his purchase has secured control of the entire frontage on the east side of Twelfth street, between Market and Chestnut streets, or a total frontage of over 400 feet on the four streets. Mr. Moser declined to say for what purpose the property had been bought, but it is believed that he has something in the way of a hotel proposition in contemplation.

ST. LOUIS TRAIN STUCK IN MUD

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SEDALIA, Mo., March 10.—Eastbound Missouri Pacific train No. 8, the fast mail, which left here last midnight for St. Louis, in charge of Conductor Goddard and Engineer Pace, ran into a huge landslide two miles west of Gasconade at 4 o'clock this morning.

The engine is stuck in the mud.

Engineer Pace was the only person injured, one of his arms being slightly hurt.

The westbound fast mail train No. 7 had left St. Louis, but was compelled to return there.

It was sent out over the Wabash at 8 o'clock and will come to Sedalia from Moberly over the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, reaching here probably at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

COOPERS IN CONVENTION.

Two Days' Meeting Is Being Held at the Southern Hotel.

The National Coopers' Association assembled Tuesday at the Southern Hotel to hold the first meeting of their annual convention. They will be here two days. The session Tuesday was taken up with organization and routine business.

Tuesday evening they will be given a smoker at the Mercantile Club. Wednesday afternoon, if the weather permits, they will be taken for a drive through the World's Fair grounds.

About 75 delegates arrived Tuesday. The officers of the association are: Max Ritzweller, presinet; J. D. Kelley, Kansas City, Kan., vice-president; J. M. Bauer, Lawrenceburg, Ind., secretary; Walker L. Wallford, Memphis, secretary.

POLICE SCANDAL IN KANSAS CITY

Jailer Files Charges Against Detective Chief and Three Subordinate Officers.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 10.—Charges of alleged corruption in the police department, involving Chief Detective John Hayes, Detective Charles P. Sanderson and Officers McAnany and Sullivan, made by Jailer Robert Todhunter, were filed today with the board of police commissioners. An investigation will follow.

Jailer Todhunter alleges that Detective Sanderson had accepted a weekly payment from a gambler who was granted immunity from arrest; that a report of this fact was filed with Chief Hayes and suppressed by that official; that Officers McAnany and Sullivan made an agreement to release two clairvoyants on a payment of $125 and that Officer Sullivan had offered Todhunter money to suppress knowledge of some of these dealings.

Todhunter's statement also asserts that attorneys were permitted to enter the holdover in the city jail, where they secured money and valuables from prisoners upon promise of immunity, discharge and reduction of sentences, which practices, Todhunter alleges, "were done with the knowledge, consent and connivance of the chief of police."

Half Million for Advertising.

The St. Louis Furniture Board of Trade has suggested to the directors of the World's Fair the necessity of advertising the big show more thoroughly, and recommends the appropriation of half a million dollars for advertising at once. The suggestion is said to have come from the Atlas Club of Chicago, and resolutions to be sent to the Fair directors were passed by the board Monday night.

S. A. E. Fraternity Banquet.

The St. Louis Alumni Association of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity held a banquet at the Mercantile Club Monday evening, at which 45 members were present. Toastmaster John A. Harrison introduced the following speakers: A. C. Stewart, Chilton Atkinson, Dr. E. P. North, Curtis Haydon, William W. Brey, Dr. H. E. Ferrel and Dr. R. C. Atkinson.

NEW WAY TO POLISH A STOVE.

By sprinkling Sifter Stove Polish on the stove and then rubbing with a damp rag and gently brushing with a dry cloth, a brilliant, jet black lustre is obtained. Sifter Stove Polish comes in a large box with a perforated top, through which the polish is sifted. Sifter Stove Polish is made of pure powdered graphite, which is not affected by fire, produces the most brilliant polish, and when applied, won't rub off. It is odorless. It never dries up. It does not require soaking in water before using. A box of Sifter will polish more stoves than three times its cost in any other polish. Get Sifter Stove Polish of any dealer at 5c and 10c a box. Insist on the yellow label with the hand.

ONE INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE

John H. Uthoff Nominated by a Non-Partisan Organization of the Eleventh Ward.

Eighty Democrats and Republicans of the Eleventh ward met in the Christian Church, Michigan and Krauss avenues, Monday evening and nominated John H. Uthoff to represent them in the House of Delegates.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. Bribach. It was the result of a small meeting held a week ago at the same church.

That meeting was called by Wm. P. Evans, principal of the Chouteau School, who desired to have an independent candidate to oppose Edward Koeln, who at present represents the Eleventh ward. He sent letters to the citizens of the ward asking them to attend.

Principal E. H. Christie of the Clinton School, Principal Wm. D. Butler of the Blow School, H. A. Tappan, Kehlor Stite, H. Wichman, Wm. Knight, Dr. Webster, Wm. Green and Henry Wensel assisted Mr. Evans in his work.

STORIES MAKE MILLION WORDS

Surprising Total in the Post-Dispatch Short Story Contest.

TOGETHER THEY EQUAL 28 LIBRARY VOLUMES

The Three Prize Winners Will Be Announced Just as Soon as the Judges Can Get Through With Great Mass of Manscript.

SOME STORY STATISTICS.

Manuscripts received	500
Words they contain	1,000,000
Number of library volumes they would make	28
Number of days required by one man to write	939
Number of solid Post-Dispatch pages they would fill	100

The prize-winners in the Post-Dispatch short story contest, which closed a week ago, will be announced as soon as possible.

Considering the fact that more than 500 manuscripts were received in this remarkable contest—the most extensive thing of the kind ever conducted in St. Louis—it can readily be seen that it will take a considerable amount of time to pass on the merits of each story submitted.

The judges are now working day and night to get through with their task, which is at the sametime pleasing and onerous, and the names of the three lucky contestants—the winner of the first prize of $50, the second prize of $30 and the third of $20—will be announced just as soon as compatible with the interests of all concerned.

The receipt of more than 500 manuscripts means that more than 1,000,000 words of short stories have been received by the Post-Dispatch—all stories of St. Louis by St. Louis authors.

It is not unfair to presume that it required 15 hours to write each of these stories, for an untrained author would hardly write more than 135 words an hour of a pretentious descriptive story.

To write 500 stories of 2000 words each, therefore, would require a total of 7500 hours.

Seventy-five hundred hours make 313 days.

Hence it is plain to be seen that to write these 500 stories would take one man a whole year, omitting Sundays, working 24 hours a day.

But no living man could do that, of course. No writer would work more than eight hours a day and not that much, unless he belonged to a writers' union and the rules demanded it.

But, supposing that one man were writing these stories, and that he worked eight hours a day, it would take him exactly three years, omitting Sundays, to complete the job.

This, as Bret Harte said, "is coming it strong, yet I state but the facts."

These stories, if arranged in book form, with 35,000 words in each volume—the usual size of novels—would make 28 volumes of the ordinary library size.

Just stand up 28 200-page novels side by side and you will get a fair idea of what the Post-Dispatch Short Story Contest amounts to; also of the work the three judges have on hand.

Try one more comparison. In each column of the Post-Dispatch there are about 1500 words. On each page of seven columns there are 10,500 words.

The 1,000,000 words in these stories, therefore, would cover 95 entire pages of the Post-Dispatch and two columns over, not allowing one inch of space for paragraphs, titles of stories or names of authors.

With these additions the space covered would be 100 pages, or six and one-third times the size of the paper you now hold in your hand, with not an advertisement, not a picture, not a pause—nothing in sight but type of the size you are now reading.

Now, don't you think that ought to hold the judges for a while?

TAKES OATH TO WIN FREEDOM.

Prisoner Testifies to His Inability to Pay Fine Imposed.

G. W. Spencer and W. F. Wernse, convicted of using the United States mails to defraud, have been released from the Iron County jail after serving but 30 days of their 12 months' sentence. Judge Adams had investigated the Spencer case and decided he was entitled to a reduction of sentence. Wernse filed an insolvent debtor's oath to escape serving his $500 fine in full. The men had been selling alleged worthless mining stocks.

PLAYED THE SWING SONG.

William Brockway, Who Says He Composed It, Entertained Hospital Patients.

Patients at the City Hospital Tuesday had the pleasure of hearing Scanlan's "Swing Song" played on the violin by Wm. Brockway, a composer and musician, who says he wrote the song for Scanlan.

Brockway is the author of a number of popular songs. He has been at the City Hospital since March 8 and expects to be discharged as cured soon. He has been living in St. Louis a number of years and ekes out a living by an occasional engagement to take some one's place in an orchestra. At one time or another he has played in most of the theater orchestras. He lives at 217 South Second street.

FAIR BY IRISH SOCIETIES.

Memories of Emerald Isle to Be Revived at Coliseum.

An elaborate Irish fair is to be held at the Coliseum from April 14th to 28th, by some of the Irish societies of St. Louis, under the management of Tim Hurst, well-known in the baseball world.

The map or Ireland will be reproduced in genuine Irish earth. Each county will be represented by soil brought from the county itself. A reproduction of Blarney Castle will also be made, with a section of the famous Blarney stone. Other features will be a reproduction of the "Happy Cross of Glendalough," and an appearance of the wonderful "Bachelor's well." There will be pipers, jaunting cars, Irish melodies, Irish sports, and real shamrocks growing in pots.

MISS MEISCH IS CHEERFUL.

Says the Second Trial Against Joseph Sippy Will Be Pushed With Vigor.

Miss Amanda Meisch of 2976 Prairie avenue, whose verdict of $3500 against Joseph Sippy for alleged breach of promise was rendered valueless by the granting of a new trial, said Tuesday morning the suit would be prosecuted with more vigor than ever.

Judge Fisher in the Circuit Court Monday decided Sippy was entitled to a new trial because Charles Heinze, who sat as a juror, admitted he was acquainted with the family of the plaintiff.

Miss Meisch denies that she or any of her family know Heinze. Sippy is a well-known contractor.

GLIMPSE OF MAN'S FACE CAUSED DEATH

FROM HER WINDOW SAW A MAN PASSING HOUSE

"That Face," She Screamed, and Fell to the Floor Unconscious and in an Hour the Young Lady Was Dead

Heart disease, brought on by seeing robbers beat her aged father Monday, terminated fatally for Julia Boismenue, who, upon catching sight of a face she believed to be that of one of her parent's assailants, exclaimed, "That face!" and fell to the floor in a swoon, dying an hour later.

Nicholas Boismenue keeps a tavern near Cahokia ferry. Two months ago robbers entered his place, and, in trying to make him give them money, beat the old man so badly that for weeks his life was despaired of.

Miss Julia Boismenue, 18 years of age, was compelled to witness the murderous attack. She implored the thugs to spare her father's life, but they paid no attention to her entreaties except to threaten to kill her if she made an outcry.

Anxiety for her father was so great that the young lady contracted an ailment that went unnoticed for a time. Every time she thought of the robbers her heart fluttered and within a week of the commission of the crime she had an attack of palpitation of the heart that made the services of a physician necessary.

Her Experience Affected Her Heart.

An examination revealed the fact that the girl's heart, which had formerly been sound, was affected by disease. The medical man unhesitatingly pronounced it to be a result of the awful experience with the robbers.

One of Boismenue's assailants, Peter Ankney, was sent to the penitentiary. Julia Boismenue said that the faces of the two men were impressed indelibly upon her memory. This she demonstrated by identifying Ankney without the slightest hesitation, although the excitement attendant upon seeing the robber again brought on a severe attack of palpitation of the heart.

Monday forenoon she was standing at the window in her home. She had not complained of any trouble with her heart for a considerable time, and her relatives were beginning to hope the ailment was not so serious as it had appeared to be.

Suddenly the girl with outstretched arm and her other hand over her heart exclaimed, "That face," and fell to the floor unconscious.

Everyone gave entire attention to reviving her, hence no one can say who was passing at the time she caught sight of the countenance of the man she believed to be a robber.

Before noon Julia Boismenue was dead. Arrangements for her funeral had not been made Tuesday afternoon.

DERRICK ON KELLER FARM SHOWS OWNER'S FAITH IN NEW OIL FIELD

Existence of Fluid on Keller Farm Is Not Doubted but Many Investors Prefer to Wait Until Test Has Shown Its Quantity.

The Post-Dispatch sent a staff correspondent to investigate the reported discovery of oil near Peters' Station in Madison County. The following article sets forth the exact situation:

Oil has been discovered 14 miles from St. Louis, in Madison County, Illinois, but whether it is in paying quantities has not been determined. One well has been sunk to a depth of 1320 feet into what is believed to be oil-bearing stone, on the farm of Ferdinand Keller, three miles from Peters, on the Cotton Belt Railroad.

For several years hunters at McDonald Lake, near Peters' station, have noticed that the surface of the lake was at times oily and smelled strongly of petroleum. As time progressed the belief among the farmers in the vicinity grew strong that there was oil beneath the surface of the ground, and about a year ago Keller and his son began to bore for oil. They sent to the Ohio oil wells for an experienced driller. A derrick was erected and machinery installed by a company of farmers organized by the Kellers.

At a depth of 400 feet a strong stream of salt water was encountered. The hole was cased and the drilling proceeded. Several hundred feet lower another flow of salt water was tapped and cased, and then the drills struck oil stone. The stratum of oil stone is believed to be several hundred feet thick. It was drilled to a depth of 30 to 40 feet, when the drills were stopped so that it might not be opened through.

When the drills got into the oil stone, small amounts of oil rose with the salt water that oozed from the hole. The oil bubbled and frothed and ran away with the water, and was impossible to collect except after a pool of water had stood for several hours, when the oil rose to the surface in a scum and was skimmed off. In this way about 20 gallons of oil, it is said, has been gathered and bottled for samples.

Useful as Lubricant Now.

The oil is dark green in color, thin in consistency, and has the strong odor of unrefined petroleum. Engineers on the Illinois Central Railroad, who have examined it, report that it is a good lubricant in its present condition, and would make an excellent fuel oil in connection with a steam spray.

At present the Keller farm, on which the well and derrick are situated, is surrounded by water, the overflow from Cahokia creek, and the country roads are impassable. As soon as the waters subside the well will be shot. The Kellers have sent to Ohio for an experienced well shooter and when he arrives a dynamite cartridge will be lowered into the well and exploded at a depth of 1300 feet.

This will open the rock in all directions, and the oil will pour forth through the fissures created and gush from the well, if it is there in sufficient quantity. An enormous oil tank ordered by Keller lies at the railroad station at Peters, waiting for the roads to dry out sufficiently to allow it to be hauled to the farm to be erected near the well, so confident is Keller that he will have a gusher.

For years Ferdinand Keller has been preaching oil to his fellow farmers, asserting that petroleum existed in almost exhaustless quantities beneath the understratum of gumbo which is to be found here and there about the country.

Mounds Thick in Vicinity.

This part of Madison County is dotted with curious mounds on the tops of which many farmers have erected their houses. These are believed to have been built up by the ancient moundbuilders. Besides the larger mounds, there are innumerable small projections arising from the ground which are believed to have been caused by oil eruptions.

The part of Madison County in which Keller's well is situated is a mining region. At Glen Carbon, one mile from Peters, are two coal mines under operation, and there is one at Collinsville and one at Edwardsville.

Speculation Rife Throughout County.

The discovery of oil at Keller's has inflamed the whole county with a speculative fever that has broken out in several companies for the exploitation of the field. The American Bottom Oil Co. controls Keller's well, and will handle other operations on his land. The St. Clair Oil and Prospecting Co. has been organized to sink wells on the Slad farm, about a mile from Schmidt's Mound Park on the East St. Louis and Collinsville Electric Railroad. The Shellenberger Oil Co. has a tract of 300 acres, and is backed, it is said, by St. Louis capital. This company has ordered machinery and as soon as it arrives will begin to drill on the Brooks farm. The Cahokia Oil Prospecting Co. has been organized in Collinsville to drill for oil south of that town.

Thousands of acres of land in Madison County adjoining and not far from the Keller farm have been leased by prospectors, and as soon as the country dries up sufficiently the farms will be covered with rigs and derricks.

The prospecting leases have been made on the basis of royalties of 10 per cent of all oil taken from the ground.

President Murray Carleton, In His Annual Report to the Directors, Estimates That the World's Fair Receipts Will Be $60,000 a Day.

The annual meeting of the St. Louis Transit Co. was held Tuesday at the downtown office of the company in the Security building.

The retiring board of directors were reelected with one exception, James L. Blair taking the place of Charles D. McLure on the board of directors of both the St. Louis Transit and United Railways companies.

The directors met later in the day and reelected last year's official staff.

In the annual report submitted by President Murray Carleton to the stockholders, stress is laid on the fact that much new equipment has been secured during the year just closed, besides the many new extensions, betterments, etc. The completion of the "north" power house at Broadway and Salisbury street is said to have effected a large decrease in the company's operating expenses.

The earnings show that the deficit in the year just closed was $268,083, as against $525,630 in the fiscal year 1901, or a gain in net earnings of $257,547.

The heavy increase in population, which President Carleton dwells upon, is given as the reason for much of the expenditures of the corporation for new cars, etc., and considerable further acquisition to the rolling stock of the company is contemplated.

In his estimate on the World's Fair traffic President Carleton is especially sanguine, and, while not basing his estimate on anything especially tangible, figures that receipts per day should average near $60,000.

The report of the auditor, Frank R. Henry, develops the fact that while there has been a fair, though proportionate, gain in the amount of operating charges, earnings have more than kept pace and the receipts during the first quarter of 1903 are sufficiently larger than those during the corresponding period a year ago to justify the assurance that the current year will see the wiping out of the deficit on the preferred shares.

The amount of common stock outstanding at the present time is $17,264,800, while United Railways preferred to the amount of $16,755,400 has been issued and $28,292,000 United Railways 4s, besides $5,776,000 collateral trust gold notes, out of an entire authorized issue of $6,000,000.

Of especial interest was the fact developed at Tuesday's meeting that the proportion of ownership of Messrs. Brown Brothers & Co. of New York, the firm which syndicated the St. Louis traction lines, was somewhat smaller than that a year ago.

The holdings of local capitalists interested in the transit lines, according to the amount of stock voted today, was shown to have materially increased.

Very few shareholders attended the meeting, which was of the usual formal character of such corporation gatherings.

SUMMARY OF TRANSIT BUSINESS OF TWO YEARS.

Earnings	$6,452,218 90	$5,783,912 72
Expenses and taxes	3,967,721 32	3,692,400 58
Income	$2,484,497 58	$2,091,512 14
Interest and rental	2,752,581 07	2,617,142 14
VOLUME OF BUSINESS.
Revenue passengers	130,830,722	117,546,811
Transfers and passes	54,247,218	46,449,131
Total passengers...	185,077,940	163,995,942
Mileage	31,074,581	29,340,361

The percentage of increase in the number of revenue passengers carried was 11.30. The transfer facilities afforded by the company were used more extensively than ever before. In 1901 the percentag of passengers using transfers was 36.76; in 1902 it was 38.68.

Earnings	11.55
Operating expenses and taxes........	7.45
Revenue passengers	11.30

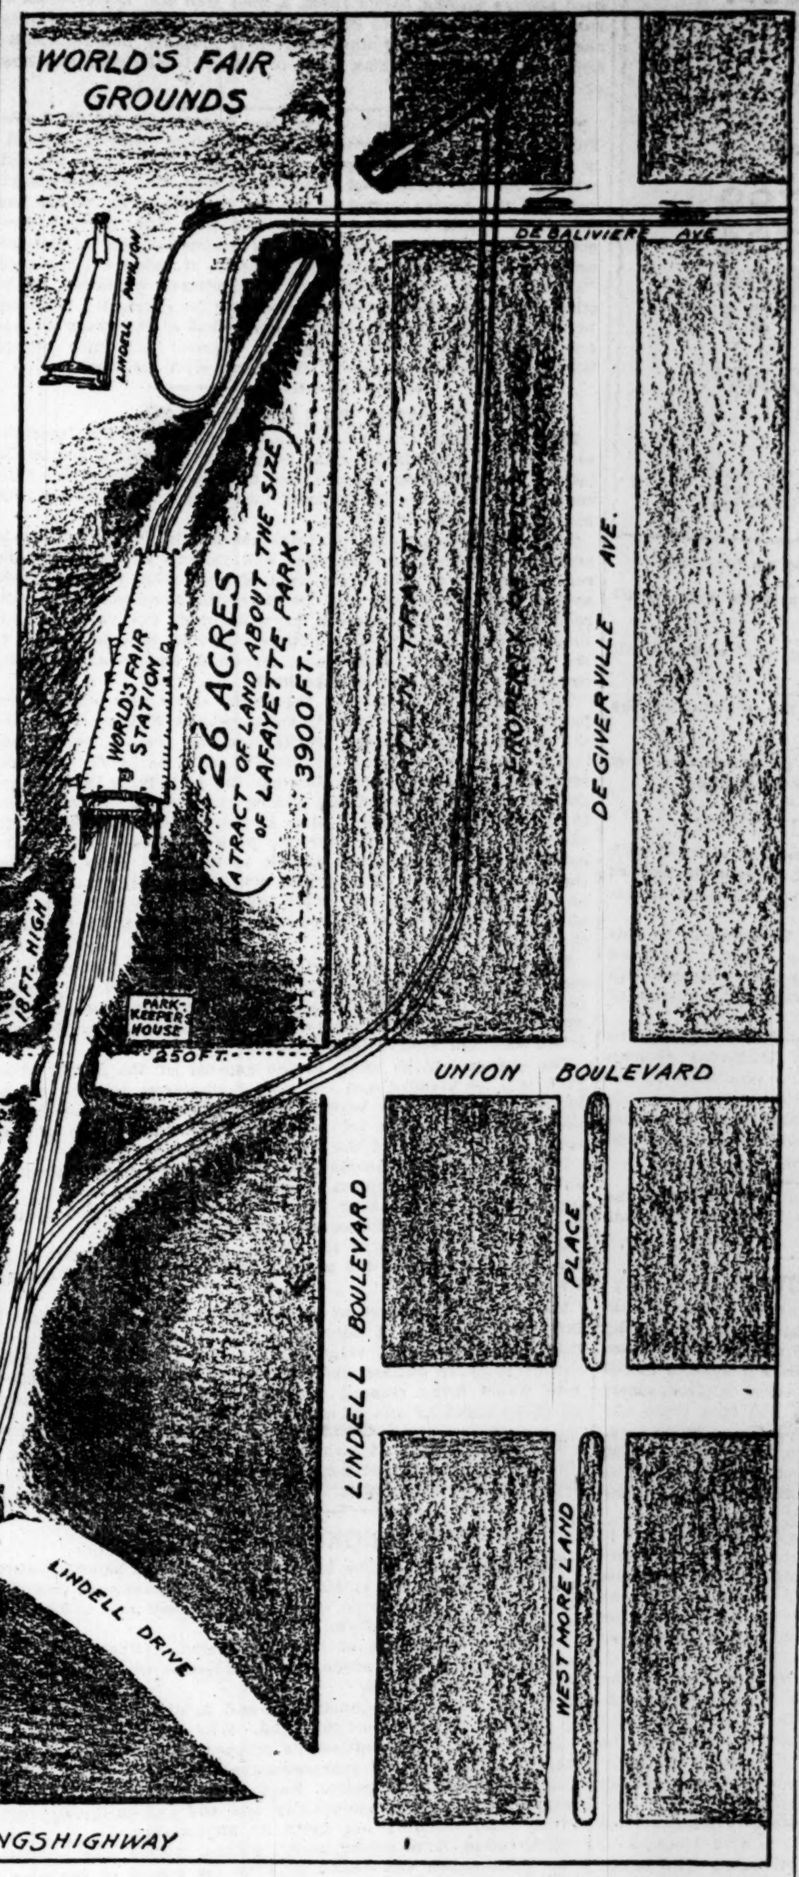
THIS MAP SHOWS PROPOSED INVASION OF FOREST PARK BY RAILROADS



The Municipal Assembly may be called on Tuesday night to consider a proposition to practically donate to the Wabash and Rock Island railways a strip of ground in Forest Park that contains over 26 acres.

Benton Park contains only 14.30 acres.

St. Louis Park, in its three sections, contains only 13.88 acres.

Hyde Park contains only 11.84 acres.

Julius Pitzman says it would be a good thing to do. He has been trying to get the Civic Improvement League, of which he is a member, to think the same way.

The league appointed a committee to look into the matter. It began with the theory that only in this way could grade crossings be avoided in the vicinity of the World's Fair grounds. The Civic Improvement League is opposed to grade crossings in populous districts. The vicinity of the World's Fair grounds is expected to be a very populous district when the Fair opens.

The Wabash and Rock Island roads have grade crossings at Union avenue, De Baliviere avenue, De Giverville avenue, Waterman avenue, Kingsbury boulevard, Delmar boulevard and Skinker road.

The contention of Julius Pitzman was that the tracks now used jointly by the Wabash and Rock Island could not be depressed or elevated at the crossings indicated without giving the tracks an impracticable grade.

Monday the Civic Improvement League committee, in a meeting at the office of Robert Moore, came to the conclusion, it is said, that no serious engineering obstacle exists to the abolition of grade crossings without changing the right of way.

The Board of Public Improvements held an informal meeting on the question Monday afternoon. President Phillips declined to state what conclusion was reached, but it was stated by Street Commissioner Varrelmann that a majority of the board would be against the grant.

It is believed at the City Hall that Mayor Wells is oposed to making the grant, and that he would veto a bill authorizing the gift were one passed.

Wabash Willing to Assume Burden.

President Ramsey of the Wabash the other day, in discussing the proposed change in tracks with the Post-Dispatch, stated that the change would force the Wabash to spend $250,000 to please the people of St. Louis, but that it was wiling to bear its share of the burden of municipal improvement uncomplainingly.

The Park View Realty Co. is believed to be interested in the movement. Mr. Pitzman is the engineer who planned the work that the company has thus far accomplished.

The Park View Realty Co., it is said, in view of the removal of the Colorado tracks from the center of its property to a strip alongside the Wabash tracks and the removal of the Wabash and the Colorado tracks from the north boundary of the Catlin tract would profit fully $1,000,000 in land values.

"There is no insurmountable engineering problem that stands in the way of accomplishing the same results on the private right of way of the Wabash and Colorado as could be accomplished by giving away 26 acres of ground in Forest Park.

"A temporary station, with dead ends like Union Station, to be located on private ground west of De Baliviere avenue, would be an easy solution of the difficulty of the Rock Island.

"The conditions under which Union boulevard and De Baliviere avenue would be crossed by the old and new routes would be practically the same. The gradient of the Wabash road would be practically the same. Consequently there is no apparent advantage to accrue to the railway by a change of the line and no perceptible gain to the city in the matter of grade crossings. That is to say, it is just as feasible and practicable to change to over and under crossing at Union boulevard and De Baliviere avenue on the present location of the road as it would be on the proposed location.

GIRL RETURNS TO STEPFATHER

Josephine Angelly Was Taken by Police From Work in Negro Restaurant.

Josephine Angelly, a pretty girl of 15 years, was returned by the police Tuesday to her home. She was found working in a negro restaurant at 1245 Morgan street. Fearing that some harm might come to her, the policemen took her to the Four Courts. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Dalton interested himself in the case and the girl was temporarily put under the care of Matron Kintzing.

The girl states that three weeks ago she was forced to flee from her mother and stepfather, who live at 1751 North Eleventh street.

Since then she has been battling desperately for living. For a time she worked as a domestic in a family in North St. Louis, but she was finally told that she was too small to do the work, and had to leave.

She wandered about the streets looking for work and meeting refusals, until she reached the negro restaurant. Here she was put to work. She was given food and shelter, and was not abused.

Runaway Boy Arrested at Belleville Said He Had Saved the Money Working for His Father.

Grover Hardy and Jesse Murphy, 15-year-old boys, were picked up on the streets of Belleville late Monday night and taken to the police station. When they were searched $100 was found on Hardy. He declared he had earned the money working for his father, who, he says, is a grain buyer at Eldorado, Ill.

The Murphy boy corroborated his companion's story and said he had come along with him because he wanted to see his three sisters living in St. Louis. He refused to give their names or addresses.

Both lads said they intended coming to St. Louis to get a glimpse of city life, but they were anxious now to get back to their homes.

ELECTRICITY PREYS ON CITY WATER PIPES

Claim Against Transit and Power Companies Is Possible Result of Expert Brownell's Report.

TWENTY-FIRST STREET IS THE DANGER LINE

Department Officials Will Endeavor to Stop Loss or to Make Corporations Pay the Bill.

E. E. Brownell, a New York electrical engineer, under a special commission from Water Commissioner Flad, is drawing up a detailed report on the damaging results of underground electric wires on water mains and service pipes in St. Louis.

One of his conclusions is that Twenty-first street is the dividing line between the positive and negative areas formed by the electric currents emanating from the underground wires.

Mr. Brownell is preparing a map to illustrate his findings. It will show the areas where the pipes are in the greatest danger of being eaten by the electric currents.

Mr. Brownell is an expert in this line of work. He was sent to St. Louis by the big corporation that recently bought up the Laclede Gas Co. This company has been securing reports on the underground electric condition of other places where it has plants and desired similar information in regard to St. Louis.

Water Commissioner Flad learned of Mr. Brownell's presence here and concluded to get the same information for his department at the same time. Mr. Brownell used his own instruments, and will get about $700 for his work.

Ben C. Adkins of the water department says that Mr. Brownell's report will be the most thorough and complete that any city in the United States has on this subject.

It will be illustrated, in addition to the map, with photographs showing the effects of the electric current or, in technical language of electrolysis, on the water mains and service pipes.

Mr. Adkins has in his office a number of photographs taken during the past few years showing these effects. They bear out the statements of Mr. Adkins and C. W. Holland, secretary to the water commissioner, on the subject.

They say that the electric currents melt the lead pipes leading from the water mains to private residences, and that they eat holes in the iron water mains. They have samples of pieces of pipe that have been warped and bent and eaten away by the electricity.

Damage Greatest in the Valleys.

Messrs. Adkins and Holland say there is no definite way of estimating exactly how much damage the electric currents do to the pipes, or the time in which they will destroy a pipe.

They say that the damage is worst in the vicinity of power stations and in valleys, where there is much dampness. They specify the vicinity of the Suburban power house at De Hodiamont, and a section of Chouteau avenue, near Compton avenue, as neighborhoods where electrolysis has done a large amount of damage.

They say the damage is larger in the western portion of the city than in the district east of Twenty-first street, because the former is the positive and the latter the negative area. The damage, it is explained, results when the current moves away from the pipes, and the current always flows from the positive to the negative area.

Mr. Adkins is in charge of the distribution department, and electrolysis causes him much trouble. Complaints are received daily, particularly from points along street car lines, of unserviceable pipes due to this cause.

In some instances it appears that the electrolysis has not only melted a pipe leading into a residence, but has eaten its way into the residence and destroyed the plumbing.

It is said that in some cases where this has happened along the lines of the transit company the company has paid the plumbing bill.

In Chicago, it is said, the city receives regular payments from the street car companies and electric companies for the damage done the water mains and service pipes.

It is the plan of the water department to find out from Mr. Brownell's report the exact extent of damage and then to plan either to remedy the conditions or to exact payment from those responsible for the loss.

TAILOR CHARGED WITH THEFT.

Customer Says Kleinberg Kept Jewelry Which Was in a Suit of Clothes.

Louis Kleinburg, a tailor, at 4487 Delmar avenue, is held by the police on a warrant charging petit larceny. John Maloney, 1306 North Taylor avenue, makes the charge. Maloney claims that when he left a suit of clothes at Kleinburg's shop there was a gold chain and a diamond set locket in the pockets. When he got the clothes these articles were not returned. When Policemen Peters and Winters made the arrest Monday afternoon they found the chain in the shop. The locket has not been found.

WAINWRIGHT'S EVASION OF TRIAL.

On the subject of wealthy and influential citizens charged with bribery who have not been brought into court, there is the case of Ellis Wainwright, under indictment for bribery and now in Europe.

Has any effort been made to bring Mr. Wainwright to this country for trial? Would it not be possible to induce a European country to give up, without special treaty, a man charged with the crime of corrupting a municipal legislature for purposes of gain?

Mr. Wainwright stands in the same position practically as Kratz. He is a fugitive from justice. His continued absence while under indictment and when trial awaits him must be accepted as a practical confession of guilt.

Wainwright should answer the charge now pending against him. If there is any way by which he can be brought back and forced to answer, that way should be taken.

THE WABASH INJUNCTION.

The attorneys for the employes of the Wabash have made up the issue in the injunction proceedings before Judge Adams by entering a denial of the charges in the railway's petition upon which the injunction was issued. The answer is a general denial with specific denials of the charges. The union leaders assert that no unlawful requests have been made, and that there has been no attempt to force the railroad to employ only union men, and that the union officers have not forced themselves on the employes, but that their action was initiated on the request of the employes, after the employes had made efforts to settle their differences with the railroad.

The main point at issue is a very interesitng one, in that it involves the right of organizations to act for employes on interstate railways. The injunction order, although in line with the action of the federal courts, is regarded in many quarters as sweeping and unusual in that it prohibits the officers of the brotherhood from ordering, persuading, inducing, or directly or indirectly causing a strike of employes.

It is purely a legal issue to be settled by the courts. The brotherhood officers and the employes have shown a commendable spirit of obedience to the authority of the court. They have submitted absolutely to the court's order and are meeting the issue in court. Whatever may be the legal merits of the question, the matter will be settled in the courts. That is certain from the attitude of both parties.

The powers of Congress to control interstate commerce have proved much stronger and more extensive than was dreamed of previous to the interstate commerce law experiment. The recent decision of the Supreme Court in the lottery cases indicates practically no limit to that control. Judge Adams' injunction suggests that these powers are as extensive in the matter of protecting interstate commerce from interruption through labor organizations as in regulating the transportation and other corporations engaged in interstate commerce.

The final decision in this case will be of great interest and importance.

THE SMITHS.

The popularity and prestige of the Smiths, the Joneses and the Browns have been attested in a thousand ways. These families have long been recognized as a factor that must be dealt with in every community and to belong to either of these ancient and honorable families has long been a point of pride with a whole army of men not particularly distinguished otherwise.

"The Smiths" is the name of a monthly magazine recently established for the benefit of the Smiths, by the Smiths and for the Smiths, and for this publication the editors will engage in the free coinage of Smith literature without waiting for the aid or consent of any nation on earth.

The Joneses and Browns are likely at any time to effect a similar organization for their mutual good; and it is high time, for already there are signs that other great families are on the verge of "getting together." There is the Fairbanks family, for example. In the early days of New England old Jonathan Fairbanks became a settler, little dreaming, perhaps, that his descendants at this day would comprise 4000 families in the United States. Yet such is the case, and the Fairbanks clans are now organizing, and as a kind of national headquarters will purchase the old Fairbanks house at Dedham, Mass.

Can the World's Fair officials afford to neglect to have a Smith day, a Jones day, a Fairbanks day and other big family days at the Fair?

CHEAP PREACHERS.

The Rev. C. M. Winchester of Middletown, N. Y., believes that a minister can live on $12 a month if he lives alone. He publishes a table showing that few families of working people spend more than $12 a month per capita and, if workingmen, why not preachers?

Quite so—why not?

One of the advantages of $12 a month is that the minister will not feel the enervating effects of luxury. He will have plain living, and if he doesn't have high thinking it's his own fault. Let him eat less and think more. So he will come to salvation. The capital advantage, however, in Mr. Winchester's [illegible] a minister who spends only $12 a month on hims[illegible] thing left to give to the chu[illegible] and sensible. The eco[illegible] basis is, a[illegible] the continent of all things. An institution with a good economic foundation is sure of itself in these days when the rains come and the floods rise.

Mr. Winchester's idea is commended to preachers who imagine that they can make themselves most useful by maintaining their self-respect in good working order. That notion is sheer nonsense. What they want is $12 a month. They may not believe it, but that only shows that some men never know what they want.

So much for the preachers.

What the people want is a man who can guide them through the wilderness of this world and keep the light of truth and good always blazing before them, a man who will not turn aside from his high calling to calculate the least number of pennies needed to keep himself alive and in a properly humble condition, a man who will think more of his spiritual riches and less of dollars and dimes.

The action of the Board of Assessors in assessing the St. Louis Fair Grounds for taxes, without the exemption formerly allowed, is in line with law and equity. In taking this step without waiting for any further legislative authority, the assessors have followed the course suggested by the Post-Dispatch, which has repeatedly called attention to the fact that the present law conttains ample power, and that no exemption can be claimed under it for the Fair Grounds property, it being neither used "exclusively for agricultural or horticultural societies" or in other regards coming under the provisions for exemption included in the law. The question now arises, what of the taxes wrongfully allowed under the exemption claimed in former years? Why have assessors neglected to comply with the law?

A PARK RAILROAD GRAB.

It is astonishing that an organization like the Civic Improvement League, organized for the purpose of promoting the public interest, should father the proposed ordinance removing the railroad tracks from the Catlin tract into Forest Park. The league has evidently been misled.

The ostensible purpose of this measure is to abolish grade crossings at Union, De Baliviere and Delmar avenues, but the real purpose is to relieve the tract of land lying west of Union avenue, between Lindell and De Giverville avenues, of the railroad tracks and thus make it more desirable and valuable as a fine residence district. The change would be acceptable also to the residents of Westmoreland, Portland and other beautiful residence places in the neighborhood.

The proposal is to shift all the tracks either now built or projected on private property in this district—the Wabash tracks and the projected Rock Island tracks—into the park. The Wabash and Rock Island railways are to be given a perpetual monopoly franchise of tracks running through the park from De Baliviere avenue to Union avenue and joining the present Wabash track in the park. The roadway is to be partly depressed and partly elevated. It will cut off from the park the large strip of land south of Lindell boulevard almost to the main drive adjoining the River des Peres. The tracks will go over Union avenue on an elevated structure and under Lindell and De Baliviere. The bill proposes to give the railways station space in the park during the World's Fair.

The principal beneficiaries of the change will be the owners of real estate now skirted and cut by the railways, and the wealthy residents of that district who would like to have the noise and smoke of railway trains removed to a greater distance. The railroads also will receive large benefits.

The change will be made at the expense of the people whose park will be invaded and cut up by additional railroad tracks. That part of the park between the proposed tracks and Lindell boulevard will be cut off and practically turned into a front lawn for the owners of the Catlin property adjoining it.

The Post-Dispatch protests against this proposed sacrifice of public interests to private interests. We protest against any further invasion of Forest Park by railroad tracks and particularly for the benefit of wealthy private property owners.

Forest Park belongs to the people. It must be preserved for the people, free from the menace and disfigurement of railroad tracks.

The precedent involved in the passage of this measure would be fatal. It would be a signal for an assault on the park by railway managers who want park space for tracks and stations, and by property owners who want to rid their property of tracks, who would bring reasons for their projects fully as plausible as those urged by the promoters of this scheme.

THE BRICKMAKERS' STRIKE.

The brickmakers' strike, bringing in its train a general disturbance of industry, is a calamity of great magnitude at this time, when there is a growing demand for houses and builders are eager to push their work.

Whatever the merits of the controversy, neither party to it can afford to keep a whole city in suspense while awaiting the slow course of a strike.

The State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration is constituted to compose differences of this kind. Why not resort to it?

Mr. Ferdinand Schwedtmann's proposal of a local board of arbitration, composed of representatives of employers, employes and the public is in point. Such a body would command the respect of the entire community and the parties directly interested could certainly not doubt its impartiality.

Arbitration is a public need. Neither public, nor employers nor workingmen can afford to have the course of business interrupted at this time.

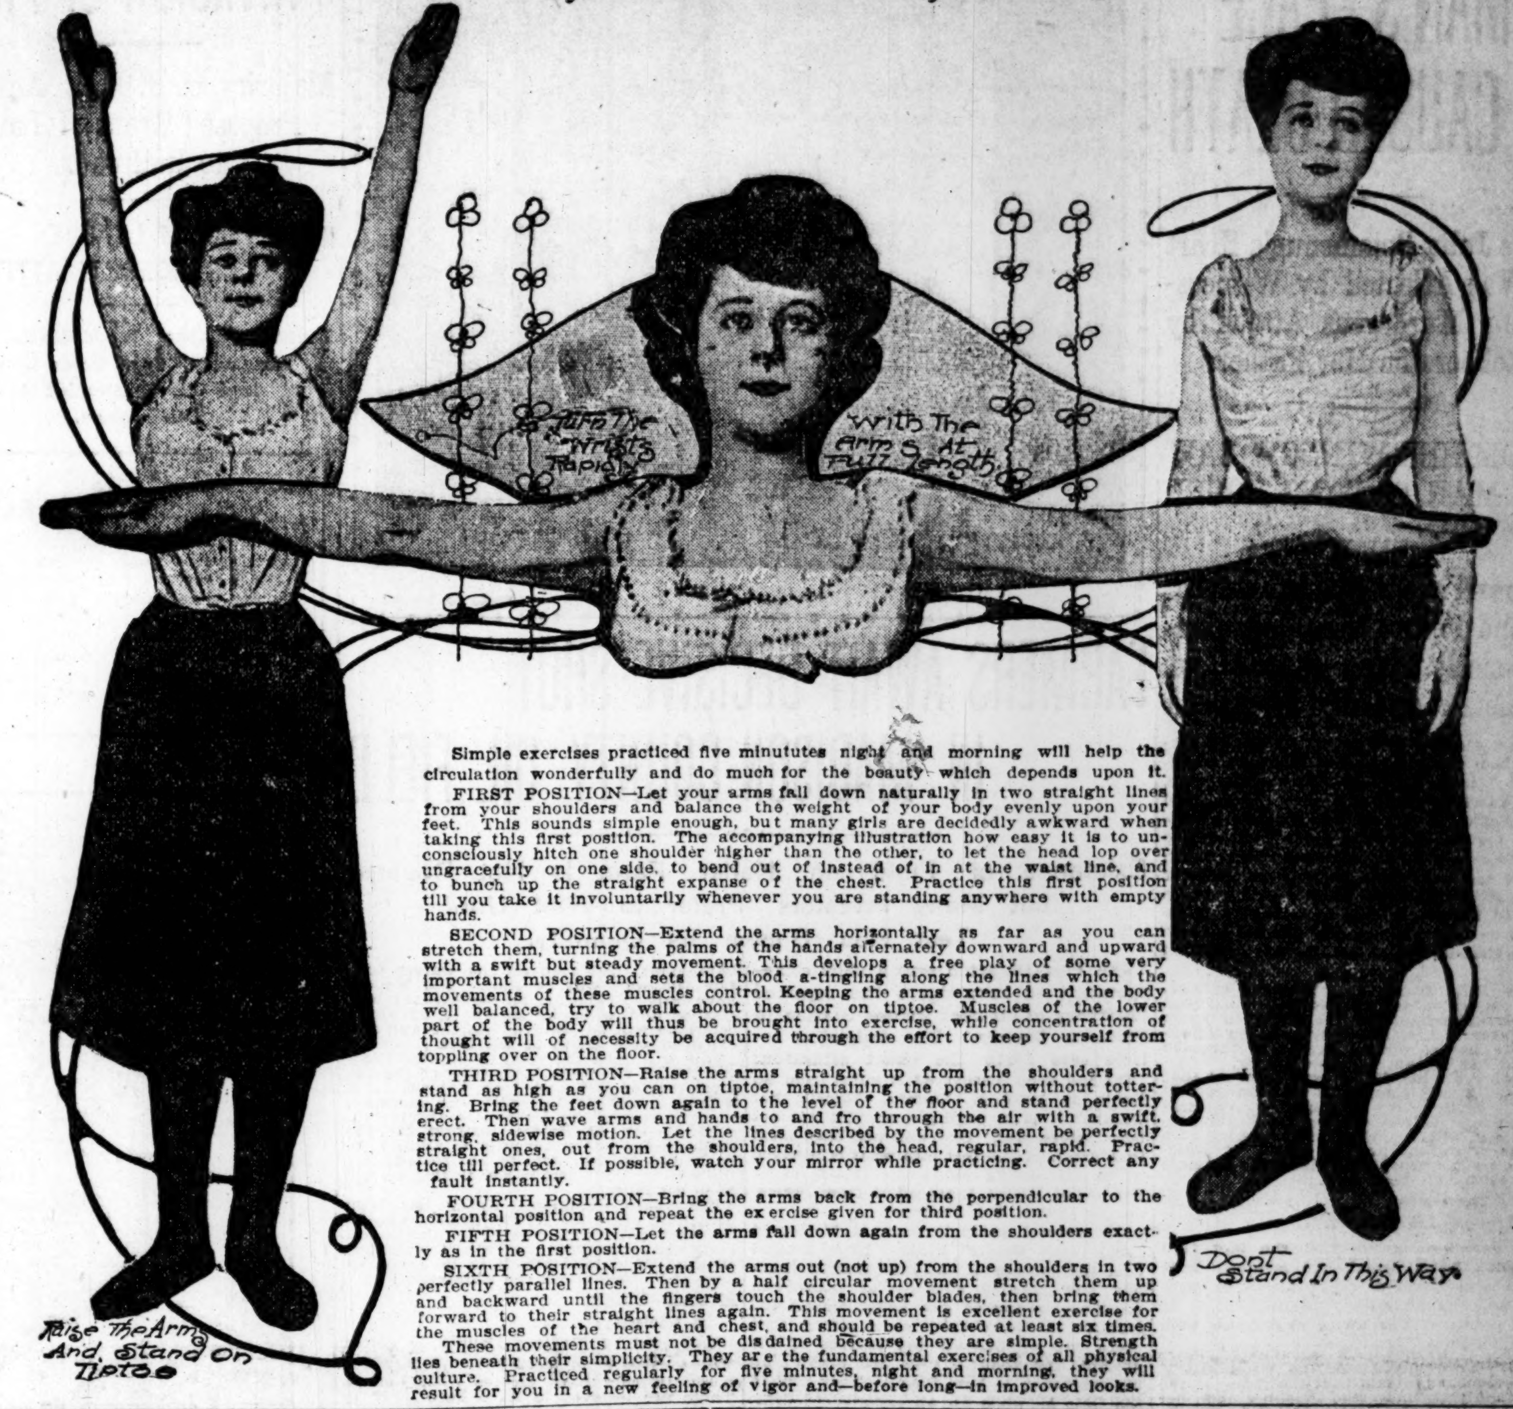
HEALTH EXERCISES FOR THE BUSINESS WOMAN

By Harriet Hubbard Ayer.



with The arms At full length
Raise The Arms And Stand On Tiptoe
Dont Stand In This Way

Simple exercises practiced five minututes night and morning will help the circulation wonderfully and do much for the beauty which depends upon it.

FIRST POSITION—Let your arms fall down naturally in two straight lines from your shoulders and balance the weight of your body evenly upon your feet. This sounds simple enough, but many girls are decidedly awkward when taking this first position. The accompanying illustration how easy it is to unconsciously hitch one shoulder higher than the other, to let the head lop over ungracefully on one side, to bend out of instead of in at the waist line, and to bunch up the straight expanse of the chest. Practice this first position till you take it involuntarily whenever you are standing anywhere with empty hands.

SECOND POSITION—Extend the arms horizontally as far as you can stretch them, turning the palms of the hands alternately downward and upward with a swift but steady movement. This develops a free play of some very important muscles and sets the blood a-tingling along the lines which the movements of these muscles control. Keeping the arms extended and the body well balanced, try to walk about the floor on tiptoe. Muscles of the lower part of the body will thus be brought into exercise, while concentration of thought will of necessity be acquired through the effort to keep yourself from toppling over on the floor.

THIRD POSITION—Raise the arms straight up from the shoulders and stand as high as you can on tiptoe, maintaining the position without tottering. Bring the feet down again to the level of the floor and stand perfectly erect. Then wave arms and hands to and fro through the air with a swift, strong, sidewise motion. Let the lines described by the movement be perfectly straight ones, out from the shoulders, into the head, regular, rapid. Practice till perfect. If possible, watch your mirror while practicing. Correct any fault instantly.

FOURTH POSITION—Bring the arms back from the perpendicular to the horizontal position and repeat the exercise given for third position.

FIFTH POSITION—Let the arms fall down again from the shoulders exactly as in the first position.

SIXTH POSITION—Extend the arms out (not up) from the shoulders in two perfectly parallel lines. Then by a half circular movement stretch them up and backward until the fingers touch the shoulder blades, then bring them forward to their straight lines again. This movement is excellent exercise for the muscles of the heart and chest, and should be repeated at least six times.

These movements must not be disdained because they are simple. Strength lies beneath their simplicity. They are the fundamental exercises of all physical culture. Practiced regularly for five minutes, night and morning, they will result for you in a new feeling of vigor and—before long—in improved looks.

SPITLESS TOWN.

St. Louis will achieve renown,
At home, abroad, as Spitless Town,
The cleanest in creation,
For she's determined—and she can—
To put a firm and lasting ban
Upon expectoration.

No longer will her sidewalks yield
The semblance of a cotton field,
As Dickens once expressed it,
Because the man who spits will find
He's lost the friendship of his kind,
If once he tries to test it.

St. Louis will be just as clean
As e'er was Fairy Mab's demesne,
And though she bear no banners,
For matchless streets, the world she'll show
In Nineteen-Four what all should know—
That she, at least, has manners.

It may not be a perfect treat
Some features of her life to greet,
Though warmly we defend her,
Yet there is one star in her crown:
The fact that she is Spitless Town

Good News From Paducah.

Glad news comes from Paducah, Ky. Spring is on the way.

The News-Democrat devotes half a column to an exploitation of this fact. "Purple grockles, commonly known as blackbirds, were noticed this morning at a dozen points about the city," it says. "The arrival of the blackbirds is generally taken as an indication that the rough weather of winter is over and that spring is at hand."

This bit of ornithological news is cheering, especially since the coal supply is running low and the prevailing price for the soft stuff is 16 cents, but it pains us to observe that no robins have yet been sighted at Paducah.

Whatever may be the reputation in Kentucky of the blackbird as a harbinger of spring—or "spring herald," as the News-Democrat calls him, and the News-Democrat admits that frequently he proves to be a false prophet—here in Missouri we know that no spring can be properly ushered in without a liberal attendance of robins. Spring without robins could no more be thought of in this climate than sidewalks without mud or a Sunday dinner without fried chicken.

Still, it is to be hoped, and we do hope, that the Paducah blackbirds have good reason for their appearance at this time—especially since it is recorded that they did not show up until March 18 last year—and that they have given us a straight tip this time on the date for nature's grand spring opening.

That red streak is Francis speeding home again.

Rev. Mr. Kloss of Kirkwood says: "If I had $100 and a highwayman demanded all I had, I would hand him a dime and say it was all I had." But if the robber should insist upon making a personal canvass of the parson's clothes? Would he not then feel ashamed of himself for trying to "hold out" good money on a poor, hard-working highwayman?

The Old Reliable.

No other subject could be found
With which his pen could woo us,
And so he wove a romance round
The courthouse in St. Louis;
And after that—'t could do no harm—

The original "Uncle Tom" has again died. "Uncle Tom" has done more dying in the last twenty years than Charlie Ross and "the oldest Mason" put together.

The "lone woman" in the case has sense enough to let the Buffalo police do all the talking.

ATCHISON PHILOSOPHY.

From the Atchison Globe:

The smaller a man's business the bigger his talk.

A new version: Bark, and the world barks with you; wag and you wag alone.

When we see a man throw out his tobacco, and go into a joint, we are onto him.

The man who does wrong, and looks innocent, gives people an additional grievance.

Probably one reason that so few girls can make bread is that it can't be cooked in a chafing dish.

An education is a good thing, whether you acquire it in college, or in the big school of experience.

It is as hard to tell what some people will do as to predict the outcome of a cloudy morning in Kansas.

The "good story teller" seems to be passing away. People seem better satisfied with the almanac here lately.

After reading the trouble that is caused by marriage, you don't wonder that people hesitate about rushing into it.

It is a good thing for every woman to outlive her husband, so that she may have another chance of finding that the men are not all bad.

POST DISPATCH SKETCH BOOK

HOW SHE GOT IT.

Out on Delmar boulevard, near Taylor avenue, live a newly-married couple, who pride themselves on their honor in personal affairs.

Neither would dream of reading the other's letters or examine the other's effects without permission. Secure in the innate delicacy of his wife, the husband never takes the trouble to remove anything from his pockets, which he fears for her to see.

The other morning he boarded an Olive street car for the office. He ran his hands into his pockets for a fare and could only find six cents, where several dollars in small change had reposed when he retired the night before.

"The house was robbed," was his inward comment, and the fear of further loss worried him the whole day.

His wife greeted him tenderly when he returned. Was anything else stolen?" he asked.

"Stolen? What?" she queried, while a guilty flush suffused her cheek. He told about the missing "chicken feed."

"Why, I found that money on the floor and used it," she said.

He hastily assured her she had a perfect right to the money.

"But you don't ask how it got on the floor," she said, conscience-stricken, a little later.

"No, how did it happen?"

"I hung your trousers upside down and shook them," was the naive explanation.

HATCHED KITTENS.

Marie Helen, the 4-year-old daughter of a well-known West End lawyer, has already achieved quite a reputation for naivete among the friends and acquaintances of the family. Her latest impression is being narrated by the father with considerable gusto.

He is an ardent poultry fancier and prides himself on one of the finest collections of high-bred fowls in the city. Among the implements of his establishment is an incubator.

Marie Helen displayed a deep interest in the evolution of chicks by the incubator process ever since it was placed in operation. She is also well acquainted with the old-fashioned process in which the sitting hen figures.

Christmas morning, Marie Helen's Maltese cat rejoiced over the advent of six mewling kittens. Marie Helen's papa discovered the fact and hastened to apprise her of it.

She was carried to the basement, just after awaking, "to see a rare present," as the older folks phrased it.

When she caught sight of the kittens and the mother cat, she gave a scream of delight.

"Oh, papa," she cried, "aren't you glad you set her?"

POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

A DITTY.

By Sir Philip Sidney.

Sir Philip Sidney, gentleman, soldier, courtier and poet, was one of the most accomplished of England's sons. He was born in 1554 and was mortally wounded at the battle of Zutphen in 1586, where he died on the field after yielding the drink of water he had called for to a soldier who needed it more than he. He composed "Arcadia," a pastoral romance of great celebrity, and "A Defense of Poesie," besides many poems of great beauty. Hallam calls him the first good prose writer of England.

My true love hath my heart, and I have his,
By just exchange one to the other given;
I hold his dear, and mine he cannot miss.
There never was a better bargain driven;
My true love hath my heart and I have his.

His heart in me keeps him and me in one,
My heart in him his thoughts and senses guides;
He loves my heart, for once it was his own,
I cherish his because in me it hides;
My true love hath my heart and I have his.

LENTEN DISHES

By Mrs. J. K. Long
in "What to Eat"

Oyster Mush—Make a good cornmeal mush, well boiled, and let it get nearly cold. Then stir in one quart of oysters without the liquor. Turn into a shallow pan. When cold slice and fry as you do ordinary mush.

Oyster Pie—Line a vegetable dish with mashed potato. Brush it over with the white of an egg, and put it in the oven to brown lightly. Take two dozen oysters, half a pint of milk, one tablespoonful of butter, pepper and salt to taste. Let it come to a boil and thicken with a heaping teaspoonful of flour and put into the space left in the vegetable dish.

Oyster Salad—Boil a pint of oysters until they are plump. Drain and cool them. Then chop with an equal amount of celery, and pour mayonnaise dressing over them and serve.

Try these receipts for variety.

FAMOUS SHORT STORIES

THE BRAVEST DEED OF THE WAR

By CAPT. T. J. MACKEY.

THE lines of the Union army were closing around Petersburg like a shroud of iron, when Gen. Lee resolved to break and drive them back, if possible. To that end he ordered an attack in force to be made on Gen. Grant's line of circumvallation on Aug. 21, 1864.

The point selected for assault was in the vicinity of an old country inn called "The Yellow Tavern."

The order was that the attack should be made just before the dawn of day, the time most favorable for a surprise, "when deep sleep falleth on man." It was the experience, however, of many Confederate officers charged with the duty of attacking in the gray of the morning that it was difficult to bring their troops into line at that early hour. Although they were generally "but in the gristle, and not yet hardened into the bone of manhood," they were in one sense, at least, not of the rising generation.

Hence it was that Gen. Johnson Hagood, whose brigade of South Carolinians was assigned to the right of the attacking force, found that daylight had broken before he could align his command. Gen. Hagood was as true a soldier as ever drew sword in battle; to him the path of duty was the path of honor; and although he saw that his brigade was in plain view of the Union troops, who had already manned their intrenchments, he ordered it to advance to the assault. It had to cross a space of about 250 yards in width which had an undulating surface, and the broken nature of the ground afforded some shelter until it debouched upon a level highway within 70 yards of the works.

It then met with a terrible fire of artillery and rifles, but it was composed of seasoned veterans, and it never faltered. Where the dead fell the living stepped; and their leveled bayonets soon sparkled within 20 feet of the line of intrenchments. There the brigade came to an involuntary halt, for before it lay a wide, dp ditch, half ful of watr, which it had no mans of crossing. Unable to advance, and yet unwilling to retreat without orders, every soldier delivered his hopeless fire with the energy of despair.

As a merciful suggestion, no doubt prompted by admiration for a body of brave men doomed otherwise to certain slaughter, the Union soldiers called out to them to surrender; but the call was unheeded. At that deadly juncture a mounted officer was seen to emerge from the sally-port of an earthwork at a reentering angle of the line of intrenchments, nearly opposite to the center of the brigade. He galloped up to the color-bearer of the 27th South Carolina Regiment, and, holding out his right hand, demanded the surrender of the colors. Although mounted, the uniform and shoulder straps of the daring Union officer indicated that he was a captain of infantry. He was, apparently, about 30 years of age, with a noble and handsome face and tall, heroic form.

The flag was especially dear to the regiment, for it had been presented by the ladies of the district in which the regiment was raised, and it had been borne aloft with honor on many battlefields. It was a state flag, with the arms of South Carolina upon it, and a counterpart of that which the famous Palmetto Regiment in the Mexican war had planted on the walls of the capital of Mexico, the first foreign flag to wave there since the time of Cortez. That it should have been delivered up to a single foeman when there were a thousand men—all veteran soldiers—to defend it, and the thrust of a bayonet or the pulling of a trigger could have disposed of him, was past all understanding. I have thought that, perhaps, being sorely perplexed with their comrades falling fast all around them, they may have thought at the moment that the delivery of the flag was intended as a signal to the troops in the trenches to cease firing. At any rate, they lost their heads for the nonce.

Not so, however, with it with Gen. Hagood, who was distant about 75 yards and saw with amazement the surrender of the flag. He was on foot, his horse having been shot under him, and he came forward on a run to intercept the officer, who was riding slowly along the front of the regiment, obliquing somewhat toward his own lines. Gen. Hagood, on coming up with him, seized the bridle of the horse, and levelling his cocked revolver at the captain's breast, said to him: "Give me that flag, sir!" The answer was: "Who are you?" The general replied: "I command this brigade. I admire your bravery. Give me the flag and you shall return unmolested to your own lines." The captain, who had furled the flag and was holding it upright with the ferrule of the staff resting on the pommel of his saddle, responded: "General, you had better surrender to me yourself. Look behind you." The general looked to the rear and saw that a large force which had sallied from the intrenchments on his left was moving to cut off his retreat, all other command having retired from the fruitless assault. Turning to the defiant captain, he exclaimed: "Once more, sir, will you give up that flag?" The answer was in a loud tone, "Never!" With the answer Gen. Hagood fired, and the officer fell, shot through the breast. He still grasped the flagstaff as he fell backward, and it was wrested from his grasp. The general then mounted the horse and ordered a retreat, which was effected with loss of nearly one-half of the brigade.

The captured horse was killed on the retreat by a shot from the Union lines, and as he fell he kicked out his heels ,and, as if to avenge his fallen master, struck Dr. Taylor, the brigade surgeon, in the head, inflicting a wound from the effects of which he never entirely recovered.

Often within the lines at Petersburg, around many a camp fire, Confederate soldiers discussed the strange incident of the flag surrendered at Yellow Tavern. How it was that such a famous regiment should have allowed its flag to be surrendered in battle to a force consisting of but one man was most puzzling.

The occult power of hypnotism might have furnished a solution, but it was then unheard of, and is still unknown to the art of war.

All agreed, however, that no braver deed was ever done than that of the Yankee captain who fell still grasping that flag.

I was then a captain of engineers in the Confederate army. Sixteen years later Gen. Hagood was the honored comptroller-general of the State of South Carolina. I was a circuit judge, and once when holding court at Columbia, I called upon him at the capitol to pay my respects. I found him highly elated, and he said to me, as soon as I was seated: "You recollect that Federal officer that I was obliged to shoot in the battle of Yellow Tavern, to recover the flag? Well, thank heaven, I did not kill him! He is still living. Here is a letter that I have just received from him. Please read it."

"COUNCIL BLUFFS, Io.,
Dec. 4, 1880.

"Gen. Johnson Hagood, Columbia, S. C.

"General: If I am correctly informed, you are the Confederate officer who shot me in the right breast, in the battle of Ylellow Tavern. The wound was inflicted to recover from me a regimental flag which had been surrendered to me by one of your color-bearers. I had apparently recovered entirely from it, but it has troubled me for some time, and I now find myself obliged to apply for a pension.

"As I was within your lines and out of sight of my comrades when I was shot, I am obliged to request that you will aid me to prove that I received the wound in the line of my duty.

"You wiuld do me a great favor if you will make affidavit stating the facts and forward it to me. Please state also that you have no interest in my claim.

"I am, general, yours respectfully,
"D. B. DAILEY,
"Late Captain Fourth Iowa Voluntee Infantry."

I am unable to state the entire contents of the affidavit, but I noted the following paragraph:

"Capt. Dailey's act was one of the bravest recorded in the annals of war. On the chance of winning a splendid prize for the side he served, he doubly staked his life, for he was in danger not only from our fire, but from that of his own men. Had I not interposed by shooting him from his horse, the disposition to surrender might have spread and my entire brigade have been lost to his single arm."

In his letter enclosing the affidavit, Gen. Hagood extended to Capt. Dailey a most cordial invitation to visit South Carolina as his guest.

He assured him of a most sincere welcome, and that he would be rdeceived by an escort of many thousands of ex-Confederate veterans, all now heartily loyal to the United States. He stated, further, that the flag with which Capt. Dailey's wound was so honorably accociated was still preserved, not as a hostile symbol, but as a souvenir of comradeship, and that he would be pleased to place it in his hands and have him view it in the midst of friendly surroundings.

Capt. Dailey made a most sodierly reply, expressing his grateful appreciation of the invitation so cordially extended to him to visit South Carolina as the guest of the general.

He expressed his sincere regret, however, that the state of his health would not permit him to make the journey at that time, and stated that he hoped to do so at some future day, as it would afford him the highest gratification to meet as friends, in the walks of peace, the brave men whom he had met as foes in war. Had the good Whittier, that true American poet, who ministered alike at the high altar of patriotism and humanity, known of Capt. Dailey's chivalric deed, he would surely have celebrated it worthily in a thrilling poem. It would have confirmed the truth of his line penned in a tribute to another knightly American:

"Said I not that Bayards and Sidneys still are here?"

TWO VIEWS OF LIVING.

My life is in the sere and yellow leaf.
The flowers and fruits of love are gone;
The worm, the canker and the grief
Are mine alone

The fire that on my bosom preys
No torch is lighted at its blaze—
A funeral pile.

—Lord Byron.

Life! I know not what that art,
But know that thou and I must part,
And when, or how, or where we met,
I own to me's a secret yet.

Life! we've been long together,
Through pleasant and through cloudy weather;
'Tis hard to part when friends are dear—
Perhaps 'twill cost a sigh, a tear—
Then steal away, give little warning,
Choose thine own time;
Say not good-night—but in some brighter clime
Bid me good morning.

—Mrs. Barbauld.

HITCH IN NEGOTIATIONS FOR INFIELDER BURKE

Pittsburg Player May Not Accompany Cardinals to Training Quarters, as No Deal Has Yet Been Completed.

Unless the St. Louis Club and Jimmy Burke can agree on terms Tuesday, the North Side boy will not be a passenger on the special car that will carry Pat Donovan and his collection of baseball players to Dallas Tuesday night.

Burke did not show up Monday at League Park, and he apparently believes that the opposition of Manager Fred Clarke of Pittsburg to the trade will knock the deal in the head.

Presumably Burke has been offered as good a contract here as he could get in Pittsburg. In the old days it made no difference what the player thought or desired. Under the new rules the ball tosser has a little to say in his own behalf, but it doesn't carry much weight.

Even without Burke, Donovan will have infielders in plenty. Bob Smith, the Kansas City candidate, made an impression on the Cardinal commander and members of the team. He is a smart appearing young fellow and looks as though he had the required nerve. He may prove a surprise. Then there is Otto Williams and Davy Brain, three in all for two positions. The only advantage in counting on Burke is reliance in his ability to clout the sphere. Williams and Smith have yet to prove their value as hitters.

Cardinal Squad Off for Dallas.

The Cardinal crew will depart for Dallas Tuesday evening at 8:20 o'clock in a special car. They will arrive at the Texas city Wednesday evening, and the next day Donovan will put his squad of pitchers to work unless the air is too biting.

The League Park offices were crowded with ball tossers Monday morning. It was Donovan's day "at home," and he had many callers. As fast as the players arrived, Benjamin Stewart Muckenfuss put tags on them in order to remember the names and presented them to the erudite Pat.

All of the old players reported except Jack Ryan, Eddie Murphy and Jim Hackett. Donovan introduced everybody, and then they fell to telling each other how they passed the winter.

Homer Smoot looks a trifle weighty, though he says that the superfluity of flesh is not great and can be taken off in a few days.

"Deerfoot" Barclay is right down to weight. He wintered at Rochester, N. Y., all winter. He coached the football team of Rochester University and was fairly successful. Eastern men who know Barclay's football abilities say that he is even more of a star on the gridiron than on the diamond.

How the O'Neill Boys Conditioned.

The O'Neill boys are as rugged as ever. They spent the winter in exercise that repaid them.

"The first day after I got home," said Brother Jack, "I got into my working togs and set to work on an abandoned coal pocket in the rear of our home. We worked steadily on it all winter and took out 64 tons of hard coal. The shortage and high price of fuel didn't affect us, and we have all we can burn for a couple of winters."

Stanley Yerkes wintered at Philadelphia. The lengthy twirler changes but little and hopes to put up more performances like he did against Pittsburg in certain games last summer when the Pirates found him a puzzle too difficult to solve.

Johnny Farrell is now a "papa" and from his ruddy appearance the winter was beneficial to him.

Bob Wicker, who promised so well for a time last season, until he tried to absorb all the malaria in St. Louis, is strong and hearty again. He had a contract to coach the University of Indiana baseball team, but typhoid fever broke out in that institution and Wicker declined to expose himself to risk.

Wicker's Arm Has Ceased to Trouble Him.

"I hope I've got rid of that malaria," said Robertus. "In one way it was the best thing that ever happened to me. It helped me to give my arm a long rest and now I feel like I can pitch good ball all season.

"A year ago I couldn't lift a bucket of water with that arm, but last winter I hefted a 65-pound weight a few times and find that my wing is in good shape once more."

When he can let himself out Wicker is a formidable pitcher and he is confident of being permanently placed on the Cardinal staff.

The new players promise well. All of the pitchers except Dunleavy, Murphy and Sanders reported. Of the new men, Milton looks especially promising on account of his size. He is a Carthage, Mo., boy and twirled for Rock Island in the Three-Eye League last season. He is a giant in build and is said to throw a very speedy ball.

Frank Genins Indorses Brown.

"Coal Miner" Brown is another on whom Donovan is placing much confidence. Brown is a quiet, unassuming young man of rather slender build, but he is one of the kind that doesn't wilt under fire.

"If Brown don't deliver the goods I am the worst judge of a ballplayer that ever happened," declared Frank Genins, who played with Brown at Omaha last year and who recommended him to the local club.

"He pitched 44 games for us last season and lost a very few. I have seen a great many pitchers at work, but I never saw Brown's equal as a fielding pitcher. I have seen him put the brakes on stiff liners that were laced straight at him, and grounders as well. My tip to baserunners is to hug the cushions when this pitcher is in the box. I think he is as good or better than Owens, who went from Omaha to the New York Americans."

If Brown is one-half as good as he has been painted he will do for Donovan's troupe.

"Dusty" Rhodes is about due to show the form that made him a star in the Southern League. He is a Chicago boy and was with that team in the National League last season, but was only fairly successful. Johnny Kling, who was in St. Louis last week, caught most of the games Rhodes pitched and declares that "Dusty" has the goods if he will only deliver them.

Something About the New Twirlers.

"Topeka Fred" Smith, the Dubuque recruit, is a Winconsin product. Last summer he pitched for the strong semi-professional team at Dubuque and won 33 out of 38 games against some of the strongest teams in that section. He comes well recommended.

Charley McFarland was one of the headiest pitchers in the Three-Eye League last year and is built along splendid lines. He has had much experience in the old Western and New York State League. Clarence Currie did splendidly with the Cardinals last year after Cincinnati released him.

The players picked out their bats Monday from a large collection spread out in the League Park office. Homer Smoot selected one labeled ".399." Manager Donovan believes that Smoot will be a better fielder and hitter this year. Last season when Smoot was punching out three and four safeties a day he was compelled to stay out of several games in the East on account of injunction proceedings. Donovan believes that his hitting would have won some of those games. The Cardinal outfield should average much better than .300 with the stick this summer.

Kruger and Brashear Officially Released.

The belated members of the Cardinal team probably will arrive this afternoon. Jack Ryan may not get here in time to leave with the team, but Dunleavy, Hackett and possibly Murphy will be on hand.

"Oom Paul" Kruger and Roy Brashear were notified Monday of the trade that forfeits them their membership in the local team. Apparently neither regrets the change.

"I hope to get a place in Philadelphia where I can work every day," said Brashear. "I like St. Louis, but I didn't play the ball here that I know I am capable of. Kruger feels the same way, I think. We have no kick coming."

By this time the Browns have settled down at Baton Rouge, and Burkett is presumablybusy manufacturing base hits. Jack Powell will join the American Leauge team in a day or two.

THE HAIR BRUSH

Breeds Dandruff, Which Causes Falling Hair and Finally Baldness.

Prof. Unna, Hamburg, Germany, European authority on skin diseases, says that dandruff is as contagious as any other malevolent disease, and that one common source of the spread of dandruff is the use of the same hair brush by different persons. The way to avoid catching dandruff or any other disease from another's brush, is to insist on the use of Newbro's Herpicide. It not only kills the dandruff germ, but it is also an antiseptic that will prevent the catching of any disease whatever through contagion of another's brush. Sold by leading druggists. JUNIOR BOWLERS MUST MOVE FASTER

TUESDAY'S SCHEDULE.

World's Fairs—Dolmans at home to St. Louis.

Kindergarten League—Automatics vs. Eads, Acme alleys.

Several good matches will be decided tonight on local cocked hat alleys, the two which will probably monopolize downtown interest being the Central League bouts.

The Acmes will have a chance to get away from the second division if they can awaken to form and beat the Banners. The Centurys will have the strong Junior team to defeat, and will probably fare badly.

The Juniors are running second in the race, and have seven games to make up before they can tie the Crescents.

The latter took a jump away from the contenders in the Central League Monday night when they made a clean sweep of five games in the bout with the 1904s.

The match took place on the Acme alleys and the Crescents ran away from the enemy. The scientific work of the winners was above par. On 45 center punches, the Crescents made but 55 misses. Held was the banner performer in this respect, he getting 14 of the bad breaks and registering but 5 misses, scoring a 52 2-5 average for the five games.

Scholl was high man of the match with an average of 63 3-5. Dodge, with 57 3-5, was the best for the losers. The winners totaled 150 more pins than the enemy.

OTHER COCKED-HAT RESULTS.

Woodward-Tiernan League—Office 3, Lithos 2; Press 3, Jobs 2.

BRITT LOST TO O'KEEFE ON FOUL

Golden Gate's Idol Had Chicago Fighter in Distress at the Time.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 9.—Jack O'Keefe of Chicago was given the decision on a foul tonight in the sixth round of a contest with Jimmy Britt of San Francisco at the Pastime Club.

Referee Jack Grant claimed that Britt hit O'Keefe below the belt with his left in a mix-up, and accordinkly sent Britt to his corner, awarding the contest to O'Keefe.

From beginning to end Britt had the fight well in hand and in the sixth round had O'Keefe going. It was apparent that O'Keefe, who was bleeding profusely from the nose and was very groggy, could not last another round. O'Keefe went to his knees twice in the sixth from Britt's terrific lefts in the stomach and rights in the face.

Britt assumed his customary crouching position in the ring, while O'Keefe stood straight. In the first round Britt assumed the aggressive and before a dozen blows were struck O'Keefe's nose was bleeding freely. In the next four rounds O'Keefe used his right frequently on Britt's body and face. In the beginning of the sixth round the referee warned Britt not to commit a foul.

O'Keefe was apparently strong, and they started in to mix it up. Britt, who is much the quicker, used his left on O'Keefe's stomach and his right on his face. O'Keefe was clearly in distress, and then came the blow which lost the fight to Britt.

When Referee Grant awarded the fight to O'Keefe the crowd swarmed into the ring and it took a dozen policemen to prevent a riot. Britt threw up his hands and protested against the decision, stating that he had committed no foul.

Five thousand people witnessed the fight.

Dr. J. D. Denton was called to examine O'Keefe. He stated that after an examination he found that O'Keefe had been injured by a blow struck some distance below the belt.

MEXICAN PETE A GOLD BRICK

Bout With Ruhlin Proved a Cake-Walk for Gus, of Akron.

PHILADELPHIA, March 10.—If ever a gold brick was worked off on a reputable boxing club it is one Peter Everett, known to whatever fame there is in pugilism as "Mexican Pete."

At the Washington Sporting Club last night Everett crawled through the plush-covered ropes to do battle with Billy Madden's Akron giant, Gus Ruhlin. In four minutes and thirty seconds, deducting the time for adjusting the gloves, after Everett had crawled through the ropes, he lay prostrate on the padded floor, completely knocked out.

It was a cakewalk for Ruhlin and, as he remarked upon entering his dressing room, "it was a shame to take the money."

"Mexican Pete" looked every inch the gun-play man from Colorado, but when he faced Ruhlin he seemed scared to death, and only the ropes kept him from running out of the arena.

As the bell summoned them to battle, Ruhlin, with his long left hand extended, feinted for an opening. Everett immediately covered his vital spots with his long arms and began running away. Ruhlin, rather astonished, looked him over for an instant and then began to beat a merry tattoo on the bronzed body of the man from Mexico. By running away, hugging at every opportunity and falling down, Pete stayed the first round.

In the second he made a few ineffectual efforts to land on Ruhlin. Finally Ruhlin got to the body, with the result that "Mexican Pete's" guard for the jaw lowered just a little, and quick as a flash Ruhlin shot a left short arm swing which landed close to the ear with such force that Everett was on his face on the pad, dead to the world.

FITZ AND O'BRIEN FAILED TO SIGN

Middleweight Battle Will Probably Be Arranged Saturday.

PITTSBURG, March 10.—Fitzsimmons and O'Brien failed to sign articles today for their fight, but it is said they will do so on Saturday, when Fitzsimmons returns from New York with a certified check for the $5,000 forfeit.

POLITICS BLOCKS PUGILISTIC GAME

Democratic Convention Breaks Up Haughton's Thursday Night Program.

Political influence brought to bear on the West End Club will prevent the holding of the much postponed Kelley-Screck scrap which was to have been held at the local bazar of jolts next Thursday.

The political influence in the case is a Democratic convention which will so disturb the economy of the West End Club's fight arrangements on Wednesday that order cannot be brought out of the chaos in time for Thursday's scraps.

Promoter Haughton had neglected to remember the convention until too late to make other arrangements for the pugilistic contests. These will now be held over until Thursday, March 19.

HERMIS, THE RIVAL OF M'CHESNEY THE GREAT

That Hermis and McChesney will meet this summer is practically assured. Mr. Smathers, the recent purchaser of McChesney, has entered the colt in all the Saratoga stakes and in one of these the pride of the East will meet the West's best thoroughbred. It is improbable that the two will meet in a match race, though one is still talked of.

AMERICAN LEAGUE SHOWS ROBISON

Cardinal Club Owner Is at Last Convinced That He Has Lost His Bets.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Frank de Haas Robison of the St. Louis National League club today practically verified Ban Johnson's often repeated declaration that the American League would play in New York.

Johnson promises to name the incorporators of the New York club and make public the location of the grounds today.

Robison sauntered down the Bartholdi lobby and to friends said:

"I have bet five $125 suits of clothes that the American League will not have a ball ground on Manhattan Island, and I am now satisfied that I have lost all my bets."

It is known that much of the delay in completing the deal for the local grounds was owing to the fact that the American would not give up the idea of locating on Manhattan Island until every chance was gone.

The statement has been made that there was political opposition to Johnson's plans, but that it had been smoothed over. It has also recently been stated that the American League contributed $2500 to the Tammany Hall election fund, but that in spite of this fact expected opposition developed to the American's plans.

WALCOTT BEAT DONOVAN.

Negro Had No Trouble Whipping New York Scrapper at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, March 10.—In the 10-round fight here last night between Joe Walcott and Mike Donovan, Wolcott secured the decision. Donovan stood his punishment well, but was entirely outclassed by the negro, who landed his blows when and where he pleased, except in the sixth and seventh rounds, when Donovan made a stand and kept his opponent busy avoiding his fierce lunges. Neither man was severely punished in the bout.

AMERICAN OARSMAN SEEKS HENLEY DIAMOND SCULLS

Vesper Boat Club, of Philadelphia, Will Send James Juvenal to England for Big Single Scull Event.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 9.—At a meeting tonight of the Vesper Boat Club it was decided to send the famous oarsman, James B. Juvenal, to England next summer to participate in the Henley regatta. It is the intention to have him compete as the representative of Philadelphia in the race for the Diamond sculls.

Although several Americans have endeavored to win this big event, Ned Ten Eyck of the Massachusetts Boat Club of Worcester, Mass., is the only oarsman who ever succeeded.

Last year Fred Titus was a competitor in the race, but he was taken ill after winning the preliminary heat. He will try again this year and aside from Juvenal will be the only American oarsman to enter the race.

During his career Juvenal has won nearly 50 races in big races against the best scullers of the United States and Canada. He was one of the crew that won the international 8-oared event for the Vesper Club at the World's Fair in Paris in 1900.

TURF TALK.

Our own "Doc" Street has a filly that may win the New Orleans Derby Saturday. Her name is Birch Broom and she defeated the prospective favorite, Sheriff Bell, in handy fashion yesterday. Birch Broom's chances are greatly improved by the fact that Tichenor's Flocarline and Schorr's Rightful will not compete.

Different conditions may obtain next Saturday and Sheriff Bell is liable to do much better work on a fast track.

It is said to be in the intention of the new California Jockey Club to extend its meeting along until the summer comes. This grab-all policy of the California officials will injure the racing game on the coast. When the eastern meetings are opening the best of the horses now racing at San Francisco will go to the metropolitan tracks and nothing will be left but the rag-tag and bobtail of the western turf.

Lindsey, one of the most capable riders at New Orleans got a severe fall Saturday last and is still in an unconscious condition.

"Rome" Respass has returned to Cincinnati from a trip to Hot Springs. During his sojourn at the Arkansas Spa he backed his colt, Bernays, in the winter books. The odds posted against the horse was 100 to 1 and as he placed $500 on his chances he will have a respectable fortune to his credit if Bernays wins the great Chicago classic.

There is talk of another new racetrack for California. It is rumored that August Belmont, Louis V. Bell, Clarance Mackay and James R. Keene were to join with a party of Chicago and San Francisco capitalists and erect a palatial course that will rival Saratoga and the new Belmont Park tracks.

Edward Corrigan is said to be slated for general manager, and no better man could be found for this purpose than the ex-master of Hawthorne. John W. Gates, the Wall street plunger, and Barney Schreiber are also mentioned as likely to be prominently identified with the proposed track.

Arthur Redfern, the crack lightweight jockey, says that McChesney is a better horse than Hermis, and in the event of these two champions meeting the latter will be defeated. Redfern is of the opinion that McChesney is the fastest and gamest horse he has ever ridden.

Johnny Reiff will have a mount in the English Derby and will probably ride the great French racer, Vinicius. Aceful, the American candidate in the Derby, is being strongly supported by American money, although there were half a dozen colts here last year that could beat him easily.

Kansas City is to have a Derby all to itself next September. The new track will be opened about that time, and it is the intention of the promoters to make it a high-class affair, both socially and financially. The Derby will have $10,000 added to it.

FOOTBALL CHANGES PROBABLE

Harvard's Athletic Committee Says Game Is Faulty, but Not Beyond Remedy.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 10.—The Harvard athletic committee met tonight to consider in detail the proposed agreement with Yale. The entire evening was given up to discussion, during which former Capt. Ben Dibble and Coaches Farley and Lewis were called in and asked their views on the game. All four frankly admitted that the game is faulty, but they claimed that all evils could be eradicated by a few changes in rules.

The committee desired these views of ex[illegible] question whether or not intercollegiate football should be abolished at Harvard. The eligibility rules were gone over with care and it was stated that a number of minor points have yet to be smoothed over. The committee will take final action on Friday.

RECEIVER NAMED IN KINLOCH CASE

Judge McElhinney of the Clayton County Court Tuesday morning announced that he had appointed Frederick Essen of Clayton receiver for the Kinloch Jockey Club, as a result of a ruling in favor of Joseph Sippy against the Lucas-Chew combination.

M. Essen is well known in Clayton and was for eight years recorder of deeds for the county. His was one of three names submitted to the judge for consideration by the parties to the suit.

It is understood he is acceptable to both sides. Mr. Essen when interviewed at Clayton by the Post-Dispatch was unable to state what his policy would be in regard to the track.

"I am mailing today notices to the stockholders of the Kinloch Jockey Club of a meeting to be held Thursday," said Essen. "At that meeting I shall get the views of the stockholders and act in accordance with the wishes of the majority.

"Whether that will involve the putting up of the track for public sale, or conducting the Kinloch meeting in the interest of the stockholders I cannot yet say.

"I am under $10,000 bond and will certainly do my best to straighten out the tangle."

The Lucas-Chew end of the affair was unable to state Tuesday what it would ask of the receiver.

Mr. Sippy will demand that the property be offered for sale when he is prepared to bid it in for what he thinks it is worth.

"I am confident," said Sippy, "that there will be racing at Kinloch this spring. We may not have time to put in all the improvements projected, but there will be a meeting, and a good one, with handicaps, stakes and good purses.

"If the chances offer I will buy in the property myself and operate it, though it is possible the meeting will be conducted by the receiver for the benefit of the club.

"If Messrs. Chew and Lucas want the track, they can have it by outbidding me when the sale takes place. I am not bent upon running the meeting—I am after making something on my investment. If I can get it on my stock, I am perfectly satisfied.

"Talk of my connection with Tilles and Cella is without any foundation. While I am on good terms with the local racing people. I have never had the slightest connection with them, financially, since Cella and I were in the same book, some years ago.

"I am not in this game for anybody else's interest—I am looking out for Joe, and you can gamble on that. I have been protecting my rights only. Those people tried to get me out and work a game on me.

"They stated that the lease was forfeited for nonpayment of rent. I showed in court that the contrary was the case. The lease was renewed in the name of the Kinloch Jockey Club Feb. 4. There was no indebtedness on the part of the Kinloch Jockey Club for the lease. On Feb. 7 the lease was canceled. I don't know what that looks like to you, but to me—well, I don't do those things myself, so I won't say anything about it."

Horsemen are anxious for the Kinloch meeting to open, and the result of Receiver Essen's proceedings will be awaited with interest.

O'BRIEN WON FROM JEFFORDS

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 10.—The Pittsburg Athletic Club opened its new clubhouse on Spring Garden avenue, Allegheny, tonight, the main attraction being a 10-round bout between "Philadelphia" Jack O'Brien and Jim Jefforts of California. O'Brien was awarded the decision at the end of the tenth round.

SSS FOR THE BLOOD

The best known and most popular blood purifier and tonic on the market to-day is S. S. S.

There is hardly a man, woman or child in America who has not heard of "S. S. S. for the blood." It is a standard remedy and a specific for all blood troubles and an unequalled spring tonic and appetizer. S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable, the herbs and roots of which it is composed being selected for their alterative and tonic properties, making it the ideal remedy for all blood and skin diseases, as it not only purifies, enriches and invigorates the blood, but at the same time tones up the tired nerves and strengthens the general system.

For Chronic Sores and Ulcers, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Blood Poison, Malaria, Anæmia, Scrofula, Eczema, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Acne and such other diseases as are due to a polluted or impoverished condition of the blood, nothing acts so promptly and effectually as S. S. S. It counteracts and eradicates the germs and poisons; cleanses the system of all unhealthy accumulations and soon restores the patient to health. If you need medical advice write us about your case and your letter will receive prompt attention from our physicians, for which no charge is made.

FROM CONGRESSMAN LIVINGSTON, OF GEORGIA.

FROM EX-GOV. ALLEN D. CANDLER.

S. S. S. is unquestionably a good blood purifier, and the best tonic I ever used.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC OPENS LOWER

Denial of Reported Peace Between Keene and Harriman Sends Price Down.

AMALGAMATED COPPER STRONGER THIS MORNING

The Early Market Seems to Be Waiting for New Developments in the Monetary Situation and Trading Only Moderate.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The market opened this morning irregular and fairly active, the majority of the stocks being lower. London was irregular, but generally lower, with selling orders of 10,000 to 15,000 on this market.

Southern Pacific opened at a decline of a point and soon sold to 61⅞ and then back again to 62¾ in the first fifteen minutes of trading. The report of yesterday that Keene and Harriman had come to an agreement is not credited this morning, and the drop in the shares of Southern Pacific is attributed to this. It is thought that the sharp advance yesterday was due to the fact that the pool certificates had been called in for the purpose of having others issued, and when these were called it developed that there was a large short interest that hurried to cover.

Another advance, with a good demand for copper in the foreign markets, Amalgamated Copper was very strong and active this morning. Opening unchanged at 73½ the price was soon run up to 74¼, and it hung around there for some time. It is also said that the prospects of early peace between the warring copper interests are now better than at any previous time.

After the first hour prices began to sag off, though the decline in most cases was but fractional. Frisco sold down to 79, recovering but ⅛ on small dealings.

The banks have lost to the subtreasury since Friday $2,474,000, which is about the same as was lost for a corresponding period last week. The decline in exchange rates would indicate that considerable foreign loans are being made here. This should give some relief to the banks here if it is true that any considerable amount of foreign money is coming here.

There is small commission business on the floor this morning, the trading being mainly confined to the professional operators.

Southern Pacific maintained its early activity, but sold down to 60¾ on liberal trading. Union Pacific, Rock Island, St. Paul and Missouri Pacific were also on the down turn, Rock Island going to 40⅞, St. Paul to 168 and Missouri Pacific to 106¼.

Copper lost its early strength and on large selling struck 72, from which price there was a slight recovery.

The steady loss of the banks to the subtreasury has had its effect and money rates were harder, the bulk of the loans being made at 6 per cent.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The market opened weak under the influence of reports of renewed hostilities between large hoders of Southern Pacific. That stock broke down 1¼ on sale of 1000 shares and Union Pacific lost ⅞. The declines elsewhere were fractional, and there were a few small gains, but these were among the less important stocks.

Elsewhere prices rebounded sharply, Sugar, Missouri Pacific, Pennsylvania, St. Paul and New York Central advancing a fraction above last night, while Southern Pacific and Union Pacific made substantial recoveries. The higher level of prices invited renewed selling, which was concentrated against the Pacifics for a time, but soon extended all around. Most of the speculative favorites sold below their opening and showed little rallying power. Metropolitan Street Railway, Canadian Pacific and Rock Island lost 1, St. Louis & San Francisco 1¾ and Ice preferred 4.

Amalgamated reacted 1⅝ and then reacted a point, as did New York Central and Southern Pacific, and the market rallied, but was extremely feverish.

An advance of ½ in United States new 4s of ¼ in the old 4s, 5s and 3s registered gave rise to some current surmises of possible purchases of bonds by the treasury for the relief of the money market. Railroad bonds were lower at noon.

DULL SESSION ON LOCAL STOCKS

Very Little Trading at the Morning Session This Morning.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY MAKES GAIN OF $5

National Bank of Commerce Was Only Bank Stock Traded in—Transit Was Firmer and Sold Well at $27.50.

The morning session at the local stock exchange today was one of the dullest that has been seen for some time. There were many minutes when the room was as quiet as a graveyard, and there was but little interest manifested in business.

Transit opened with a fair amount of buying orders distributed around the room, which were promptly filled by the same broker that has been the most promient seller for the past few days, and who was the largest buyer around $29. All the trades in this stock this morning were at $27.50, a slight gain over the low point yesterday.

Germania Trust showed some interest, selling up from $227.50 to $228. Mississippi Valley Trust sold early in the session at $460, a gain of $5 over the low yesterday morning. After this sale the stock was offered down to $458, with but $457 bid.

A single sale of 10 shares of National Bank of Commerce was all that was noted among the bank stocks.

ST. LOUIS MONEY MARKET.

Business was large in banking and trust circles Tuesday. There was a good demand for funds. Discount rates were firm at 5@5½ per cent for call loans, 5½@6 per cent for time loans. Clearings, $7,247,0[illegible], with balances of $890,681.

GRAIN MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH

CHICAGO, March 10.—Wheat opened firm on steady cables and May was unchanged to ⅛c higher at 74½@74⅝c. There was a good demand for May and July at the start, and the market held firm the first half hour, but on selling by the early buyers and on a general letting up of the demand prices weakened. May selling off to 74¼c. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 268 cars, which, with local receipts of 31 cars, made total for the three points 399, against 297 last week and 373 last year.

Firm cables and unfavorable weather caused a strong opening in corn and May was a shade to ⅛@¼c higher at 47⅝c to 47¾c. There was a good scattered demand for both May and July, the local crowd being the best buyers, and, with limited offerings, the market held firm. Local receipts are larger at 494 cars, with three of contract grade.

Oats opened firm but the volume of trade was not large and with little support the market weakened, May selling down to 34½c after opening unchanged to a shade higher at 34⅞@35c. Local receipts, 219 cars.

A small run of hogs and an advance of from 5c to 10c in prices at the yards imparted strength to provisions at the start and opening prices were higher, May pork being up 7½@10c at $18.40 to $18.42½. May lard was 5@7½c to 7½@10c up at $10.17½@10.20, and ribs were 7½c higher at $10. There was a good general demand in lard and ribs which held prices fairly firm.

WAITING FOR THE GOVERNMENT

NOT MUCH CHANGE IN VALUES EITHER

Grain.

With a government report on farm reserves of the principal cereals coming out at 3 p. m., thhe speculative trade were not inclined to operate very freely. A considerable portion of the trading was in the shape of evening up. All kinds of guesses were handed out, bearing the brand of "inside tips" on them, but that no one had the figures and that no leak in the department existed was patent by the character of the trading and dull markets. It was certain no one was playing exclusive information in advance. Whether the report would be bullish or bearish worried the whole outfit, and probably after the figures are public property the trade will not know then whether they favor the buying or selling side of the market. And inside 24 hours they will have been forgotten. Nothing new in the shape of market information was heard, but the cash market locally was the poorest for all grain that has been had for many a long day.

WHEAT—No evidence of a coming cold wave could be discerned on the weather map, where moisture was the most striking feature, with temperatures generally higher than yesterday. But as Liverpool had not declined with the markets on this side of yesterday, the cables reporting the foreign market as unchanged, though quiet, and Paris opened ½@¾c higher, something of an improvement in prices was seen in domestic markets this morning. All the buying appeared to be for short account and as soon as that was supplied the market lost what little strength it had and soon declined. Receipts were 40,500 bu, against 35,800 bu one year ago, and at Minneapolis and Duluth 368 cars, against 293 last year.

off to 69c. July opened ⅛c up at 68¼c, sold off to 69c. July opened ⅛c up at 69¾c, sold at 68¼@64⅜c and then down to 68c.

The fact that the government report on farm reserves would be out this afternoon had a repressive effect on trading, and in some respects a depressing effect on prices, but did not lead to enough selling to cause a break. All kinds of estimates were out, ranging from 165 to 175,000,000 bu. Nothing in the general market news was striking enough to influence speculation. Following the early trading May sold up to 69¼, back to 69c, to 69⅛@69¼c, off to 69@69⅛c sellers, back to 69¼c. July at 68⅛@68¼c to 68c to 68⅛@68¼c.

The closing Liverpool cable was unchanged to ⅛d higher for the day and Paris ⅜c higher. Primary receipts were 512,000 bu, against 529,000 bu one year ago, and shipments 164,000 bu last year. Clearances in flour and wheat were 236,000 bu.

The market swung within a small range during balance of the session, at one time May breaking below 69c and selling at 68⅞@69c, but quickly recovering, and July did not sell below 68c. At close 69@69⅛c was bid for May and latest trading in July was at 68@68⅛c. Little in the shape of export business was reported.

Cash market—Receipts, 24 cars local and 21 cars through. Lower and the poorest market in every respect yet had. The extreme difficulty in obtaining transportation greatly limited buying for shipment and buying for local mills simply insignificant, millers then refusing to purchase save at their own figures. By sample delivered—No. 2 red sold destination weight at 74c and the best bid late was 73c, and to sell locally 72c a top rate, a sacked lot selling at 71c. No. 3 red, destination weights, sold at 72½@73½c and fancy as high as 74½c paid, but local quotable at 70@71c. No. 4 sold at 68c and low grade nominally 60c. No. 2 hard quotable at 68c to 70c; Turkey at 72½@73c; No. 3 sold at 64@70c, and Turkey north 71c; No. 4 quotable 60@63c.

CORN—It is a pretty difficult task to describe a market where there really is none, and that was the case with corn this morning so far as St. Louis was concerned. No orders could have been in the hands of brokers, and none of the regular traders apparently cared to operate to any extent. It took some time to open the market, May then selling 1-16c lower at 40⅞c, then sold at 40⅞@41c, back to 40⅞c, July was offered at 40¾@40⅞c. The return to wet weather had a strengthening effect in Chicago; but with 282,800 bu in here (if 40 per cent was for through shipment), against 61,200 bu one year ago, the local trade was not much impressed by the rain. Liverpool reported ⅛@¼d advance, but a quiet market.

May sold later at 40⅞@41c, but then weakened until offered at 40⅝@40¾c, though not selling below 40¾c, which bid at noon. July sold at 40⅝@40¾c.

Primary receipts were 882,000 bu, which 592,000 bu larger than a year ago, and shipments 600,000 bu, against 221,000 bu last year. Clearances were 702,000 bu. The closing Liverpool was ⅜@½d higher for the day.

Expectation of a bearish government report on farm reserves weighed upon the speculative market subsequently, the very poor cash market having an unfavorable effect. Buying was light and the moderate selling going on caused May to weaken to 40½@40⅝c, closing at 40⅝c. July latest trading was at 40⅝c.

Cash Market—Received 187 cars local and 127 cars through. Weak, and where local or sales to one road have to be made lower, prices necessary to effect them. The demand outside that for cars that could go to points from whence urgent orders arriving, was extremely poor and buyers generally holding off. Sales destination weights at 43½@44c for No. 2 and 43½c for No. 3, but to go by M. & O. to New Orleans at 42c and 40½@40c respectively; No. 3 white at 45½c. Local sales at 40¾c for No. 2, 40c to 39¼c for No. 3, 38c for No. 4, 42c to 41c for No. 2 yellow, 42c for No. 2 white, 42¼c to 40¾c and offered at 40½c later; white ear at 43½c.

OATS—No letup to receipts was seen, 120,150 bu coming in, where 74,400 bu one year ago. The future market was not mentioned in the pit during the first hour of the session.

Speculative trading finally began through an attempt to sell that caused quite a decline in price, May selling at 34¼c and July at 29⅞c. For September 26⅞c was bid.

Primary receipts were 743,000 bu, against 354,000 bu one year ago, and shipments 419,000 bu last year. Nothing cleared from the seaboard.

A somewhat stronger tone was manifest late in the day, and at close 34⅜c was bid for May. The cash market was about demoralized except for something choice.

Cash market—Received 56 carloads and 33 cars through. Lower and badly unsettled save for choice grades of white; offerings large and buyers refusing to purchase save at decided declines. By sample, delivered, No. 2 sold at 35@35½c, No. 3 at 33¼@35c, No. 4 at 33@33½c, No. 2 white at 38c, No. 3 white at 36½@37½c, No. 4 white at 33@36c and fancy at 37c.

RYE—No. 2 sold at 52½c, destination weights, but to sell locally not over 50½c obtainable for No. 2 or 50c for No. 3, delivered East Side.

Trade Topics.

The world's available supply of breadstuffs on March 1 was 170,588,000 bu, this showing a decrease during February of 3,120,000 bu, but 29,142,000 bu smaller than on March 1, 1902, though during February of that year there was 10,794,000 bu decrease. The reduction for February was the greatest in American supplies for both years, these amounting to 105,228,000 bu on March 1, 1903, a decrease for the preceding month of 8,012,000 bu, where the year before on that date 119,552,000 bu was held, that a decrease for the month before of 9,576,000 bu.

Broomhall's report on wheat and corn shipments last week by principal exporting countries which had been held back by a delay in the cable containing Russian and Danubian exports, was given out this forenoon. The total wheat was 9,843,000 bu, against 8,353,000 bu the week before and 8,012,000 bu one year ago, and of corn 4,226,000 bu, against respectively 2,278,000 bu and 3,636,000 bu. In last week's wheat shipments were 2,296,000 bu from Russia and 1,024,000 bu from Danubian ports, an increase over the preceding week of 648,000 bu in former and 112,000 bu in latter. Of the corn exports 88 per cent was from the United States.

Wheat at opening in Liverpool was unchanged, but an easier tone prevailed and early in the session May eased off ⅛d on the large Russian shipments and expectations of large arrivals of La Plata wheat off coast. This slight decline was later recovered and a steadier tone developed in sympathy with the firmness in corn. That market opened unchanged, but advances of ¼ and ⅛d occurred early in the morning, the factors being buying of March by a large house and a good injury from Ireland for corn on spot.

Cash business yesterday in Chicago was 35,000 bu No. 1 Northern wheat sold to millers at 1½c under May in store. Sales of corn were 105,000 bu, and oats 25,000 bu. Seaboard exports resold 200,000 bu corn in Chicago, being unable to get it shipped on time. At St. Louis 41,000 bu No. 2 and No. 3 red sold to city and outside mills. Export purchases at seaboard were 224,000 bu wheat and 248,000 bu corn.

It is expected that lake navigation will open the first week in April. News from the straits yesterday indicated that prospects are for boats getting through April 1 if necessary.

The amount of wheat on ocean passage increased last week 960,000 bu, where a year ago the increase was 920,000 bu, and of corn increased 918,000 bu, against 34,000 bu increase a year ago.

The snow map shows that the snow covering has about disappeared the past week, only a trace remaining in eastern Montana and portions of the Dakotas and Minnesota, and in upper Michigan.

The Chicago tip (?) on farm reserves makes wheat 167,000,000 bu, corn 1,040,000 bu and oats 337,000,000 bu.

POPE LIKE HIMSELF AGAIN.

Pontiff Says He Has Recovered From His Illness.

ROME, March 10.—The Pope today received the Duke of Norfolk and a delegation of British Catholics, who presented him with greetings and offerings. The duke read a loyal address, which the Pope answered, expressing his appreciation.

The pontiff looked very well, considering his late illness. He said he felt himself again.

MILLIONAIRE PATRIOT INSANE

Cuban Who Gave Most of His Fortune to Aid the Revolution Has Only $50,000.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Henry Hoso, the wealthy Cuban planter, who, it is said, gave the greater part of his fortune in aid of the Cuban revolutionists, is confined in the Bloomingdale asylum for the insane. Hoso's estate, which at one time was in the millions, has dwindled, it is said, to $50,000.

Veteran Doorkeeper Buried.

Funeral services for the late Adolph H. Schmidt were held Monday afternoon from the family home, 2715 South Eighteenth street, to the New Picker's Cemetery. The associates of the veteran doorkeeper at the Germania Theater had draped his chair at the theater in memory of his passing away. The pallbearers, members of Mound City Lodge, Knights of Honor, were: John Mueller, William F. Franck, August von Ochsen, M. Leahy, Theodore Schmidt, Ed Pourcely, A. Hatton and A. Madena.

GRIP CONVALESCENCE

There's nothing better than Scott's Emulsion after the grip. When the fever is gone the body is left weak and exhausted; the nervous system is completely run down and vitality is low.

Two things to do: give strength to the whole body and new force to the nerves. Scott's Emulsion will do it; contains just what the worn-out system needs.

Rich blood, healthy flesh, resistive force, more and better nourishment are what Scott's Emulsion supplies to the convalescent.

BABY'S FUTURE

Something for Mothers to Think About.

Lives of Suffering and Sorrow Averted

And Happiness and Prosperity Assured by

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills When All Else Fails.

Every child born into the world with an inherited or early developed tendency to distressing, disfiguring humours of the skin, scalp and blood, becomes an object of the most tender solicitude, not only because of its suffering, but because of the dreadful fear that the disfiguration is to be lifelong and mar its future happiness and prosperity. Hence it becomes the duty of mothers of such afflicted children to acquaint themselves with the best, the purest and most effective treatment available, viz., The Cuticura Treatment.

Warm baths with Cuticura Soap to cleanse the skin and scalp of crusts and scales, gentle applications of Cuticura Ointment, to allay itching, irritation and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and mild doses of Cuticura Resolvent Pills, to cool the blood in the severer cases, are all that can be desired for the alleviation of the suffering of skin tortured infants and children, and the comfort of worn-out parents.

Millions of women use Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening and soothing red, rough and sore hands, for baby rashes, itchings and chafings, in the form of washes for annoying irritations and inflammations, and for many sanative, antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves.

Usually Spring goes before the cutting of Spring fabric prices come. Now with Spring just coming, the price-cutting comes. Peach's Spring fabrics as well as heavier weight Suitings, Top-Coatings and Trouserings chopped in price. The price cutting goes before the usual cause —Spring fleeting.

Peach's $75.00 Imported Overcoatings and Top-Coatings for $50—Peach's $18 English Trouserings for $12 —Peach's $65.00 Spring Suitings for $40. Only Peach's fabrics thus cut. And they'll soon be gone.

WAS BURDICK'S SLAYER A MAN?

THE VICTIM'S GOLD WATCH IS MISSING

This Fact Leads to the Belief That a Man Struck the Blows and Took the Watch to Give Color to Burglar Theory.

CONCISE HISTORY OF BURDICK CASE.

Feb. 26—Edward L. Burdick, wealthy clubman and publisher, murdered at night in his home. Six other persons were in the house at the time.

Feb. 27—Police announce a mass of woman's hair was found clutched in the dead man's hand.

Feb. 28—Mrs. Burdick, who was suing for divorce, returns home from Atlantic City. Police announce that Burdick was killed with a golf club, and that he entertained a mysterious visitor on the night of his death.

March 4—Mrs. Paine's house is searched by the police.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 10.—By the merciless use of the police dragnet and the process of elimination the authorities of Buffalo hope to solve the Burdick mystery within the next 48 hours.

Belief in the woman theory is waning today, and the idea that a man did the murder is growing.

A list of more than 20 names is in possession of the detectives, and everyone named theron will be called to headquarters, as was Marion Hutchinson yesterday, and each will be interrogated closely concerning his or her actions on the night of the murder.

Concerning the men who are to be questioned, it is the policy of the police to examine three particular men last. Two of these have clashed with Burdick in marital affairs, and one is on terms of friendship with a woman whose name has been mentioned in connection with the case.

The police hope that some one of the examinations preceding these will result in the naming of the man to resist whose threatened attack Burdick had for months carried a loaded revolver in his overcoat pocket.

Burdick's Watch Was Taken.

The fine gold watch which the murdered man wore has been missing since the night of the tragedy. It is believed that it was taken as a blind to make the police think a burglar killed the man.

Burdick's trousers, containing $40, were found in the den where he lay dead. His watch, on the other hand, he always carried in his waistcoat pocket. His waistcoat was found in his bedroom upstairs after the murder was discovered, but his watch was missing.

Burdick's watch, as his friends view it, was the only article which could have been taken from the house with a certainty that its loss would have been discovered.

Its importance as bearing on a possible burglary thus becomes evident. But if Burdick had actually been slain by a burglar it is not believed that the burglar would have left the money in his trousers. Nor is it believed that he would have taken the risk of going upstairs. Nothing else was missing from the house.

These unusual circumstances convince the intimate friend of the murdered man that the watch was taken as a blind, therefore they have looked beyond the burglary theory for a real motive. The investigation has convinced them no woman would have had the nerve to go upstairs after committing the murder in order to get the watch, and even if that idea had occurred to a woman she would not have taken the risk of being caught with a man's watch in her possession.

Keeping Close Watch on Them.

Notwithstanding the assertion of the police that all surveillance has been withdrawn from persons heretofore named in connection with the mystery, it is certain that plain clothes men are keeping close watch upon their every action. An attempt by one of these to leave Buffalo would mean for them persistent shadowing and possible arrest.

The police while apparently staying away from the Burdick home are really keeping the closest kind of a watch upon everything that is done there. From official sources it is learned that Mrs. Burdick spends much of her time weeping in the "den" in which her husband met his death. Her mother, Mrs. Hull, it is reported, has broken down under a nervous strain and refuses to go near the death room or to talk of anything that bears even remotely upon the case.

Many Hearts Still Aching.

It has been felt by many citizens of Buffalo that there has been a disposition to handle somewhat too tenderly the sensibilities of residents of the so-called Elmwood district, many of whom are familiar with the habits and the conditions, scandalous and otherwise, which surrounded the life of Mr. Burdick.

While there has been little apparent effort to spare the feelings of Mrs. Seth T. Paine, Miss Marion Hutchinson and others who have been brought into the police web in the guise of actual suspects, there are many others who, it is believed, are in position to vouchsafe valuable information, whom District Attorney Coatsworth has handled up to the present time with kid gloves. From now on a more persistent effort will be made to extract information from any source that may promise results, but there is not likely to be much more of the extreme "third degree" methods of premature arrests, search and imprisonment such as have already aroused a storm of popular indignation in Miss Hutchinson's case.

Offers to Go on the Stage.

Mrs. Paine and Miss Hutchinson have become the objects of glittering offers from theatrical agents of both [illegible] York and Buffalo, who are eager to [illegible] handsomely in return fort heir services in utilizing upon the stage the notoriety which has been forced upon them.

Mrs. Paine's friends are congratulating her warmly today upon her peremptory refusal yesterday of a local offer of $500 a week to play the role of an actress. Her action is regarded as all the more praiseworthy from the fact that her financial circumstances have been so reduced recently that she has been obliged to place chattel mortgages upon her household effects.

Miss Hutchinson had hardly been released from imprisonment before she was the recipient of two offers. One came from New York, and is said to have held out $500 a week as an inducement for a limited engagement.

Mrs. Paine Has a Theory.

Mrs. Gertrude Paine, who has been so prominently brought into the case, has a theory.

She was asked whether she had ever entertained any suspicion against any one in connection with the murder or whether she had formed any theory.

"It has seemed to me," she replied, "that if a woman committed the murder it was not one of the women of his own social circle. Mr. Burdick knew that his wife wished to secure evidence against him as a basis for divorce. He knew that detectives were watching him to get that evidence, and it does not seem reasonable to me that, under the circumstances, he would take any woman into his house, and particularly one who might be suspected because of their social relations."

"Is it not possible," suggested the reporter, "that by the very boldness of his conduct he expected to escape the vigilance of the detectves? He may have agreed that they would not suspect him of taking any one into his house, and that, having tracked him there, they would give up for the night and go about their own affairs."

"I don't believe it," replied Mrs. Paine. "He had too much love and tenderness for his little girls to bring a wicked woman under the same roof with them. No one who knew Ed Burdick could believe him capable of such a thing."

"But if he did not have a woman in the den how do you account for the lunch and cranberry tart which was found there? It is claimed he never ate cranberries himself, and did not like them."

"That might have been a mistake," was the reply, "he may have had the lunch for himself."

ENDED HIS LIFE WHEN WIFE LEFT

George E. Uthoff Shot Himself After Family Quarrel.

George E. Uthoff, aged 34 years, shot and killed himself at 9 o'clock Monday night in his grocery and saloon at 1832 South Eleventh street.

Mr. Uthoff was a prosperous business man and a well-known politician in the Eighth ward, but for the last few days had been drinking heavily.

When he returned home early Monday evening Mrs. Uthoff reproached him for drinking and there was a quarrel, not thought to be serious by the employes at the place of business, but Mrs. Uthoff left her home and went to a neighbor's.

Her absence seemed to weigh heavily on her husband, and, after wandering about the residence over the store and about his place of business, he procured a revolver and remarked to William Ternetz, his barkeeper, that he was going to kill himself.

Ternetz thought Uthoff was joking, and paid no attention to him until he saw him raise the revolver to his head. Then he made an effort to prevent the suicide.

Uthoff fired, and before medical assistance could be summoned was dead.

Mrs. Uthoff was prostrated upon learning the fate of her husband.

Besides Ternetz, Al Brandon of 1801 South Eleventh street, a clerk in the grocery store, and William Suetkamp of 1879 South Eleventh street saw the shooting.

The body was taken to the morgue.

His father, former Councilman F. G. Uthoff, who was the state's chief witness in the Snyder boodle trial, is out of the city, and has been notified. The funeral arrangements await his return.

There often comes a time in the struggle with pulmonary disease when the victim loses heart and gives up hope. The ambition to be up and around gives way before growing weakness, and the sufferer keeps to the bed.

No one who suffers from lung disease should lose heart or give up hope while there is a possibility of cure. In many cases Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured lung "trouble" when the cough was obstinate and deep seated, with hemorrhage, emaciation, night-sweats and general weakness. A great many men and women are living to-day in the full enjoyment of health and happiness who had been "given up" by doctors, but found a perfect and permanent cure in the use of "Golden Medical Discovery."

"My wife had hemorrhage of the lungs," writes W. A. Sanders, of Hern, Mason Co., W. Va. "She had ten hemorrhages, and the people all around here said she would never be well again. But she began to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and she soon began to gain strength and flesh. After taking ten bottles she was entirely well. Should you think this would do you any good to publish, just use it, and if any one disputes the merits of this almost omnipotent medicine they may enclose self-addressed envelope with stamp, and I will answer, the same as written in this letter."

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bo[illegible] volume. Address Dr. R. V. [illegible] uffalo, N. Y.

LOOKED FOR PIN WITH X-RAY.

It Was Swallowed by Miss Alice Melville of South Fourteenth Street.

City Hospital surgeons used the X-ray Tuesday in an effort to locate a pin swallowed by Miss Alice Melville, 26 years of age, of 1309 South Fourteenth street, who has been sent to the observation ward by her parents, who feared her mind was affected. They said she seemed to be possessed of an uncontrollable temper and that she broke the furniture in fits of anger.

The surgeons taxed her with having swallowed the pin for the purpose of killing herself, but she denied that. She said she was picking her teeth when the pin slipped down her throat.

After subjecting her to the X-ray the surgeons were not certain they had located the pin as there were several objects in the radiograph that resembled an X-ray picture of a pin.

The woman claims that she suffers constantly, but the attendants say her symptoms are not alarming.

WRECKING HUGE SMOKESTACK

The Three Hundred Thousand Brick in the Structure Are to Be Taken Down One at a Time.

An extensive piece of wrecking work is being done at Barton and Third streets on the huge smokestack which has stood for 15 years at the building of the Busch Bottling Co.

Eight men are at work on the wrecking of the stack, which is 160 feet high, with a diameter of 16 feet at the base and 10 at the apex. It will require two weeks to tear it down. Dynamite is not being used, but a scaffolding has been constructed inside and the stack is being taken apart piecemeal. The bricks, of which there are about 300,000, are to be used again in the new building.

In spite of the height of the stack, the work will not endanger the workmen.

The Continental Glass Co., which will tenant the new building, is a recently formed company, in which it is said Mr. Adolphus Busch will be a large stockholder. The company is to go in for the manufacture of table glass and will employ 300 men.

Wreck at Gasconade Delays Trains.

No Missouri Pacific trains arrived at Union Station early Tuesday morning or late Monday night, the cause assigned being a wreck at Gasconade. At the station it was announced that the wreck was a slight one, but two freight cars being off the track. No further explanation of the delay of traffic was given.

Held for Death of Child.

Miss Louise Howard, colored, of 959 South Second street, is being held by Deputy Coroner O'Keefe until a warrant can be sworn out charging her with the death of her three days' old child, whose body was found in the cellar beneath her home. The child's body was found by a plumber. It is claimed that the child had bruises about its head and body. Miss Howard says she buried the child there, but that it died from natural causes.
